Hoover Balked At Testifying, Changed Mind

FBI Chief Reluctant To Break Traditional Ban, Morris Reveals

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover turned down one invitation but accepted a second to testify in the Harry Dexter White case, it was disclosed tonight.

Hoover's reluctance to break his traditional self-imposed ban on appearing before congressional committees was described by Robert Morris, chief counsel for the Internal Security subcommittee, on NBC's "Meet the Press" TV show.

Morris said the subcommittee never did subpoena Hoover but merely invited him. Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), chairman of the subcommittee and others of the group, he said, did not want to set a precedent that would have other testimony.

"Rumor" Changed Mind

After turning down the subcommittee's first invitation to testify, Morris said, Hoover accepted the second invitation only "after a story was well circulated, and rather persistently circulated," that Hoover had been party to an agreement to keep White in government despite evidence that White was a spy.

Morris said Jenner "thought it best" to give Hoover a chance to testify on this point "to restore what public confidence might have been lost" to Hoover.

In answer to a question, Morris said he didn't believe Hoover considered when he testified that his testimony might cost him his job, if the Democrats came into power later.

However, there were indications that Hoover may be headed for a cool reception from some Democrats when he makes his annual appearance before congressional committees in support of his bureau's budget requests.

Democrats Resent Part In Case

Democrats are not saying anything about it publicly, but generally they are tagging Hoover as the man who came closest to proving Atty. Gen. Brownell's charge that former President Truman was "blind" toward Communist infiltration when he promoted the late Harry Dexter White in the government in 1946.

Though some of the old two-party enthusiasm may be missing when Hoover shows up at budget time, any Democratic resentment against him is not likely to be reflected in congressional votes for any reduction in FBI funds.

Nevertheless, these Democrats—and some of them hold little brief for Truman—have made it clear they resent Hoover's part in what many of them regard as primarily a political attack not alone on Truman but on all Democrats.

Reds Denounce Truman "Attack"

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Communist party said today "the unprecedented attack" upon former President Harry S. Truman in the Harry Dexter White case was an effort to blind the public to the "rising dangers" of the Eisenhower administration.

In a statement issued over the signatures of party Chairman William Z. Foster, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn and Parris Perry, the party said the attack "is in reality an attack upon the whole labor movement, which today is generally in the camp of the Democratic party," and was made to divert attention from "the developing economic crisis."

Man Waiting For Bus Traffic Crash Victim

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP)—Harlan Webster, 51-year-old Essex, Md., man, was killed tonight when a police car and a Trailways bus collided at a downtown street corner and pinned him up against the wall of a building.

Two officers were injured in the accident which happened in fog on slippery streets. Webster was waiting for a bus on the corner when the bus and car knocked him up against the building. There were no passengers on the bus at the time of the accident.

Prosecutor Threatened

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 22 (AP)—Hossein Azemodh, chief prosecutor for the court martial trying ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadeq on treason charges, said today he has been receiving threatening letters.

Two Anti-Red Czechs Fly Small Plane To Freedom

"Miracle Boys"

These four youngsters watching the "drumstick express" go by at a pre-Thanksgiving party in New York have all undergone a similar unique experience. Each has fallen out of a window from four to 13 floors above the ground. Left to right are Garn Anderson, 4, who fell five floors; Francis la Madrid, 2, who fell four floors; Marshall Harris, who toppled 13 floors, and Raymon Perez, Jr., 2, a six-story lad.

Baltimore Kills Wife And Himself

SILVER SPRING, Md., Nov. 22 (AP)—A young Baltimore man died in a hospital early today, seven hours after he shot his estranged wife to death in a restaurant and then turned the gun on himself.

Terrified patrons of the Pickwick Grill, 8233 Georgia Ave., where the wife was a waitress, either fled to the street or remained frozen with horror in their seats. The shootings occurred shortly after 5 p. m.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Ethel May Ditzel, 27, and Edgar Morris Ditzel, 31, both of Baltimore.

Hopes Rise For Trieste Settlement

ROME, Nov. 22 (AP)—Western diplomats here were optimistic today in their efforts to settle the dispute over Trieste.

They discounted the still sharp tone of the Yugoslav and Italian press as merely a sop to strong popular feelings in both countries.

But despite this optimism the official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug threw cold water on Italy's conditional acceptance yesterday of a plan to meet with Yugoslavia and the Western Big Three (the United States, Britain and France), on Trieste. Italy's terms were not disclosed.

Tanjug said Italy's assent seemed to be along lines laid down earlier by Rome. It added that any proposal for a five-power conference if it takes for granted turning over part of Trieste free territory to Italy.

Today Yugoslav voters balloted for legislative candidates on both the national and local level against a backdrop of bitter resentment over Italian claims to this strategic port on the Adriatic Sea. Despite some local contests it was obvious the Yugoslavs would endorse heartily the way President Tito's anti-Soviet Communist government is conducting its foreign relations.

Easing Of Liquor Sale Rules On Military Posts Assailed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Rep. Shafer (R-Mich.) today denounced as a "bureaucratic blunder" the recent Pentagon decision to permit bottle sale of liquor on Army and Air Force posts.

Declaring that protests against the order were "entirely justified," Shafer said he intended to join with other members of Congress to correct the situation at the next session of Congress in January.

The Defense Department this fall modified a long-standing regulation to permit the sale of liquor by the bottle on military posts and in Army and Air Force open messes.

The use of liquor had heretofore been limited to permitting officers to drink in their clubs, which they had bought elsewhere for locker storage. Sale on military posts was forbidden.

Shafer, in a statement, said "There is no possible excuse for putting the military into the bottled liquor business," and ridiculed Defense Department orders to post commanders to "encourage abstinence" and "enforce moderation."

"From the standpoint of granting the privilege of liquor consumption to members of the armed forces, this new policy is entirely unnecessary," Shafer said.

"From the standpoint of maintaining controls which are doubly necessary on a military reservation it is entirely unwise and indefensible."

Shafer objected particularly to entry of the military in the package-liquor business in such states as Michigan, which exercises state monopoly control and operation of bottle liquor sales.

Political Asylum Requested By Pair

FRANKFURT, Nov. 22 (AP)—Two anti-Communist Czechs flew over the Iron Curtain to the West in a small sports plane today and asked U. S. authorities for political asylum, U. S. Army headquarters announced.

The American-built Piper Cub landed near the Bavarian town of Regensburg after a 150-minute flight from Prague, the Czechoslovak capital.

It came down in an open field between the small hamlets of Strassdobl and Noeham in the district of Pfarr-Kirchen.

The undercarriage and propeller were damaged in landing but neither of the two men was reported hurt.

Held For Questioning

The two were held for questioning by U. S. military investigators in Regensburg and their plane was put under Army guard.

How the refugees got the plane and how they escaped was not revealed immediately.

It was the third freedom plane to fly to the West this year from Communist-ruled Czechoslovakia and the latest in a long series of dramatic escapes across its tightly-guarded frontiers.

Desperate refugees have turned to planes, gliders, amphibious jeeps and collapsible boats as means of escape.

Four Seized Airliner

Last March, four anti-Red Czechs seized an airliner at gunpoint over Czechoslovakia and flew it to Frankfurt with 23 reluctant passengers accompanying them on their flight to freedom. Passengers and plane were returned later to Czech authorities.

Ten days earlier, three others had flown into Austria in a small German-made plane.

In July, eight Czechs made another spectacular dash to the West by crashing through the border near Regensburg on a patched up British armored car.

AWOL GI Admits Slaying Teacher

ALTOONA, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP)—An Army deserter admits he shot and killed a 33-year-old Altoona school teacher, state police say.

State Police Sgt. Richard D. Gray said Pvt. Charles N. Dermendzin, 20, of nearby Duncansville, AWOL from Ft. Monroe, Va., will be charged with murder.

The victim of the slaying early Saturday was Bertram M. Isenberg, a member of the Altoona High School faculty since last September. He formerly taught at Washington, Pa.

His body was found covered with a thin layer of leaves off a lonely mountain road in the Blue Knob section, bordering Cambria-Knox counties. He was shot in the head.

Questioned about a wrecked car, Dermendzin broke down and admitted the slaying and led officers to the body, Gray said. It was found about 20 feet from the wrecked car, belonging to Isenberg.

Gray added:

"As far as the motive for the slaying is concerned we only know now that Dermendzin had Isenberg's car in his possession. From what our investigation has determined Isenberg frequently picked up hitch hikers."

Flood Waters Isolate Hundreds In Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 22 (AP)—An estimated 2,000 persons were isolated by rising flood waters today as rain-swollen rivers spilled over their banks at scattered points in Oregon. Much property damage was reported and livestock was lost in the first floods of the winter season.

The communities of Powers and Lee Valley, southeast of Coquille on the southern Oregon coast, were isolated by rising waters of the north and south forks of the Coquille River.

NAACP Says Air Force Defies Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Air Force officials are reprimanding Negro officers "who do not bow to Southern Jim Crow practices in trains and buses," the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People declared today.

Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP bureau here, said this amounts to a refusal by the Air Force to obey Supreme Court decisions outlawing segregation in interstate travel.

Mitchell cited the case of Lt. Thomas Williams of Philadelphia, a pilot in training at Craig Air base, Ala. He said the Air Force "went to the extent of dropping him" because Williams refused to sit in a segregated section of a bus en route from Florida to Alabama.

"Pilot" Electrocuted

TERLING, England, Nov. 22 (AP)—Christopher Robin Porter, 15, was killed today while flying a model airplane under control of two wires. The plane fouled on an overhead 11,000-volt electric cable, sending deadly charges to the boy on the ground.

Fewer District Tax Collection Offices Urged

House Investigators Say Reduction Would Increase Efficiency

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—House tax fraud investigators today recommended elimination of some of the present 64 federal district tax collection offices in the interest of more efficient revenue service.

While tacitly acknowledging political opposition to any step which would deprive states or districts of a tax office, investigators concluded "there is little need for 64 such offices." They recommended elimination of some offices and the relocation of others.

At the present time, there is at least one district tax collection office in each state, with some states—notably New York—having several.

"Major Accomplishment"

Overall, however, the recent reorganization of the Internal Revenue Bureau with its decentralization of authority and abolition of many political appointees, was found to be "a major accomplishment in revenue administration."

One result of the reorganization was a change in nomenclature. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey announced last July 25 that the bureau "shall hereafter be known as the Internal Revenue Service."

The House Ways and Means tax subcommittee, which has been investigating tax frauds and operations of the bureau for the past two years, generally looked with favor on the accomplishments of the reorganization in the third of a series of final reports on its investigative findings.

Districts Fixed Years Ago

Among major criticisms, however, was continuation of the basic framework of 64 tax collection offices.

"The number of these districts and their boundaries were fixed many years ago and bear little relation to the realities of present-day revenue administration," the subcommittee said.

"For example, there are six collection districts in the State of New York, four in Ohio, and three in Pennsylvania, but only two in California and one in Michigan."

"The district director's office at Chicago annually processes over five million returns; the office at Reno (Nev.) processes only 145,000."

21 Injured By Tornado In Florida

A small tornado dipped into a rural Florida town Sunday, injuring 21 persons, and another storm wrecked homes in a Louisiana community.

The Florida twister struck at Woodville, some 27 miles northwest of Panama City on the Gulf coast. Six houses were flattened, some trucks and autos were overturned and power lines were snapped.

The other storm, near Broussard, La., destroyed or damaged 22 tenant houses during the night, the Red Cross reported.

Broussard is near Lafayette, some 120 miles west of New Orleans.

Only one of the injured in Florida—an unidentified child—was hurt seriously.

Along the Atlantic seaboard, residents again were plagued by fog, smog and smaze, while rain and some snow dampened broad sections in other parts of the nation.

A heavy fog hugged the East Coast from New York to Georgia. In some sections, notably New York City, the cloud of dark air was described as smog (smoke and fog) and smaze (smoke and haze).

Search Is Continued For Trucker's Slayer

EASTON, Md., Nov. 22 (AP)—State police in Maryland, Virginia and Delaware continued their search today for the "mad dog killer" of a Cambridge, Md., truck driver.

The slain man's car was found four miles north of Accomac, Va., Friday night.

Police in 14 states are alerted for Harvey Leo Northrup, 26-year-old ex-convict from Federalburg, Md., wanted on a warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder.

The victim, 30-year-old Howard Lee Coleman Jr., was shot to death Thursday night.

Loses Eye In Play

Jackie Williams, 6, plays with a toy gun and a puppet at Newark, N. J., Eye and Ear Infirmary, unaware that he has lost the sight of his right eye. Jackie and his pals were playing cowboys and Indians in the back yard of his East Orange, N. J., home when a friend accidentally shattered his eye with an arrow. In April, the Williams family was burned out of its home, which was not insured.

Atrocity Catalog Prepared By U.S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—The United States was working today on a new 150-page Korean atrocity catalog to support its demand in the U.N. General Assembly for some strong action against Communist China and North Korea.

The booklet, supplementing a U.S. Army white paper on Korean atrocities, is expected to be out Wednesday. U.N. officials today postponed a scheduled Wednesday plenary Assembly meeting until Friday, to allow other delegates to study the detailed U.S. charges.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate, will present the catalogued charges and demand for action in the 60-nation plenary session.

Allied-Red Talks Enter Fifth Week

PANMUNJOM, Monday, Nov. 23 (AP)—Dragged out by Communist stalling, diplomatic talks aimed at arranging a Korean peace conference crawled into their fifth week today.

The negotiators, in recess since Saturday, were scheduled to meet at 11 a.m. today (9 p.m. Sunday EST).

U. S. Envoy Arthur Dean, representing the United Nations in the talks, said he feels the Reds are blocking progress in order to take the matter of arranging the conference before the U.N. General Assembly in New York, which convenes Tuesday.

In Saturday's talks, the Reds called patient, affable Dean a "warmonger, an untruthful rogue, insincere, irrational, lacking in common sense and frivolous."

GI Who Quit Reds Indicates He May Remain In Va. Hills

BRISTOL, Va., Nov. 22 (AP)—Cpl. Ed Dickenson came back tonight to the hills where he was born and indicated he may never leave them again.

The 23-year-old soldier who rejected a life with the Communists arrived here from Washington for another tearful reunion with members of his family who had driven from the family home at Crackers Neck, Va.

Dickenson said: "I said I wanted to reenlist in the Army when my furlough is over. But I have got a lot of thinking to do about that. I guess it is too early to say what I'm going to do."

Dickenson arrived with his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Van Buren Dickenson and his sister, Rose Helen, who had gone to Washington to meet him.

Four other members of the family were waiting on the rain-swept

Spy Hunters' New Message Prods Canada

Former Soviet Code Clerk Believes He Could Assist Probe

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles was asked today by Senate probes of communism in government to relay another message to Canadian authorities in support of a request to question Igor "Gouzenko," former Soviet code clerk at Ottawa.

Gouzenko, who now lives with his family in an Ontario town under an assumed name and has a Royal Canadian Mounted Police guard, broke with his Soviet masters in 1945 and supplied the Canadian government with information about Russian espionage activities.

First Request Rejected

A first request of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee for an opportunity to question him was turned down by the Canadian government, which said U. S. authorities had been promptly advised of all information of value to them.

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind.) questioned this, however, and at his request Dulles asked the Canadian government last Thursday to reconsider its refusal to allow a subcommittee representative to interview Gouzenko.

Jenner said the subcommittee has reason to believe that the former Soviet code clerk could furnish it with information that would be of value in its efforts to trace the activities for former federal officials who have been accused of spying for Russia.

Public Hearings Resume

The subcommittee, which will resume public hearings tomorrow afternoon (2 p.m. EST), has been probing into the explosive case of Harry Dexter White, former assistant secretary of the Treasury, and others who were associated with him in the government.

Jenner, in his new letter to Dulles, said he was enclosing an "authenticated copy of a signed statement" by Gouzenko and asked that this be forwarded to the Canadian government in support of the subcommittee's renewed request to question Gouzenko.

The statement was one the Chicago Tribune obtained from Gouzenko, a copy of which was made available to the subcommittee.

In it Gouzenko was quoted as saying that, although he had no information which he had not already given to the Canadian government, he thought he could give useful advice.

Korean Orphan, Ex-GI Reunited

OMAHA, Nov. 22 (AP)—A dimpled Korean waif with snapping black eyes buckled a brace of brand new six-guns across his 5-year-old tummy today and shot up Omaha's Union Station in fine Western style.

Beside him, pulling a seemingly endless array of presents from a small suitcase, was his bachelor foster-father, Paul Raynor, 25, an ex-sergeant from Huron, S. D. Raynor had adopted Jimmy in Korea but was forced to leave him behind when he returned from military service because of immigration difficulties.

When Jimmy reached Omaha in the pre-dawn hours today Raynor raced down the train platform on the dead run and swept Jimmy into his arms like any other father. Jimmy, a so-called "GI baby" was orphaned when the North Korean Communists killed his mother. He was just another waif until Raynor noticed him one day and traced him down. The tall, blond Dakotan, in a 25-minute interview, persuaded the woman who was keeping Jimmy to give him up.

The American sergeant legally adopted Jimmy in May.

Several other CGT officials were arrested at the time the warrant was issued for Frachon's arrest.

Hoover Balked At Testifying, Changed Mind

FBI Chief Reluctant
To Break Traditional

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover turned down one invitation but accepted a second to testify in the Harry Dexter White case, it was disclosed tonight.

Yugoslav Voters Register Support Of Tito's Policies

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Nov. 22 (AP)—Yugoslavia's 10 million eligible voters turned out in force today to register their endorsement of the policies—East-West and here at home—of President Tito's Communist government.

The outcome was certain. Under a new election system adopted this year, the voters could take their choice between balloting for candidates presented by the "Socialistic Alliance of the Working People of Yugoslavia" or voting against the government. No other parties opposed the Communist-dominated "Alliance."

Resist-Russia Policy
Tito, in the first countrywide election since 1950, was asking approval not only of his administration's five year defiant resistance against Russian domination, but also of his stubborn stand against the Anglo-American decision to turn the strategic Adriatic seaport of Trieste over to Italy.

Domestic problems might produce some opposition, among them the government's failure to deal adequately with a serious housing problem and with its seizure of farm land after abandoning its policy of forced collectivization.

Tito, Wife Vote Together
In crisp but sparkling November weather, Marshal Tito and his wife voted together in the early morning at a polling place set up in a small Belgrade schoolhouse decorated with blue, white and red Yugoslav flags and with dark red chrysanthemums.

Overall, however, the recent reorganization of the Internal Revenue Bureau with its decentralization of authority and abolition of many political appointees, was found to be "a major accomplishment in revenue administration."

One result of the reorganization was a change in nomenclature. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey announced last July 25 that the bureau "shall hereafter be known as the Internal Revenue Service."

The House Ways and Means tax subcommittee, which has been investigating tax frauds and operations of the bureau for the past two years, generally looked with favor on the accomplishments of the reorganization in the third of a series of final reports on its investigative findings.

Districts Fixed Years Ago

Among major criticisms, however, was continuation of the basic framework of 64 tax collection offices.

"The number of these districts and their boundaries were fixed many years ago and bear little relation to the realities of present-day revenue administration," the subcommittee said.

"For example, there are six collection districts in the State of New York, four in Ohio, and three in Pennsylvania, but only two in California and one in Michigan."

"The district director's office at Chicago annually processes over five million returns; the office at Reno (Nev.) processes only 145,000."

21 Injured By Tornado In Florida

(By The Associated Press)

A small tornado dipped into a rural Florida town Sunday, injuring 21 persons, and another storm wrecked homes in a Louisiana community.

The Florida twister struck at Woodville, some 27 miles northwest of Panama City on the Gulf coast. Six houses were flattened, some trucks and autos were overturned and power lines were snapped.

The other storm, near Broussard, La., destroyed or damaged 22 tenant houses during the night, the Red Cross reported.

Broussard is near Lafayette, some 120 miles west of New Orleans.

Only one of the injured in Florida—an unidentified child—was hurt seriously.

Along the Atlantic seaboard, residents again were plagued by fog, smog and smaze, while rain and some snow dampened broad sections in other parts of the nation.

A heavy fog hugged the East Coast from New York to Georgia. In some sections, notably New York City, the cloud of dark air was described as smog (smoke and fog) and smaze (smoke and haze).

EASTON, Md., Nov. 22 (AP)—State police in Maryland, Virginia and Delaware continued their search today for the "mad dog killer" of a Cambridge, Md., truck driver.

The slain man's car was found four miles north of Accomac, Va., Friday night.

Police in 14 states are alerted for Harvey Leo Northrup, 26-year-old ex-convict from Federalburg, Md., wanted on a warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder.

The victim, 30-year-old Howard Lee Coleman Jr., was shot to death Thursday night.

Atrocity Catalog Prepared By U.S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—The United States was working today on a new 150-page Korean atrocity catalog to support its demand in the U. N. General Assembly for some strong action against Communist China and North Korea.

The booklet, supplementing a U. S. Army white paper on Korean atrocities, is expected to be out Wednesday. U. N. officials today postponed a scheduled Wednesday plenary Assembly meeting until Friday, to allow other delegates to study the detailed U. S. charges.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate, will present the catalog of charges and demand for action in the 60-nation plenary session.

Allied-Red Talks Enter Fifth Week

PANMUNJOM, Monday, Nov. 23 (AP)—Dragged out by Communist stalling, diplomatic talks aimed at arranging a Korean peace conference crawled into their fifth week today.

The negotiators, in recess since Saturday, were scheduled to meet at 11 a. m. today (9 p. m. Sunday EST).

U. S. Envoy Arthur Dean, representing the United Nations in the talks, said he feels the Reds are blocking progress in order to take the matter of arranging the conference before the U. N. General Assembly in New York, which convenes Tuesday.

In Saturday's talks, the Reds called patient, "warmonger, an untruthful rogue, insincere, irrational, lacking in common sense and frivolous."

GI Who Quit Reds Indicates He May Remain In Va. Hills

BRISTOL, Va., Nov. 22 (AP)—Cpl. Ed Dickenson came back tonight to the hills where he was born and indicated he may never leave them again.

The 23-year-old soldier who rejected a life with the Communists arrived here from Washington for another tearful reunion with members of his family who had driven from the family home at Crackers Neck, Va.

Dickenson said: "I said I wanted to reenlist in the Army when my furlough is over. But I have got a lot of thinking to do about that. I guess it is too early to say what I'm going to do."

Dickenson arrived with his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Van Buren Dickenson and his sister, Rose Helen, who had gone to Washington to meet him.

Four other members of the family were waiting on the rain-swept street in front of the Bristol Herald Courier newspaper office. Dickenson appeared nervous when bystanders began gathering and watching the family's sidewalk reunion.

American Colonel's Daughter Not Raped

TOKYO, Monday, Nov. 23 (AP)—Police combed a U. S. Army housing area today for clues to the killer who strangled a U. S. colonel's 9-year-old daughter with his hands. Her partly nude body, a gag stuffed in her mouth, was found Saturday night by her father only two blocks from home and within minutes after she died.

Susan Rothschild "died of strangulation," Army hospital doctors reported after an autopsy.

Father Finds Body

Col. Jacquard H. Rothschild found the body of his pretty little girl lying face down in a few inches of water in a drainage ditch about 6:10 p. m. Saturday. Autopsy officials placed the time of death at 6 p. m.

There was no evidence of drowning. "Numerous bruises and scratches around the face and neck . . . indicated no instrument of strangulation was used," the autopsy report stated.

Both American military and Japanese civilian police pressed what the Army termed an "intensive investigation." Army officials were close-mouthed today on whether any clues had been found.

"No one, American or Japanese, is being held by military police," an official said.

Former Houseboy Quizzed

Tokyo newspapers quizzed Japanese police as saying that a 22-year-old Japanese former houseboy in the Rothschild home had been questioned and he said there had been servant trouble in the house. U. S. military authorities declined comment.

The Rothschilds, described by an Army spokesman as "very badly broken up by the tragedy," are formerly of Chicago. They live in the Sagamihara housing area for Army men and families about 30 miles southwest of Tokyo. They have one other child, a son a few years younger than Susan.

Spy Hunters' New Message Prods Canada

Former Soviet Code
Clerk Believes He Could Assist Probe

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles was asked today by Senate probes of communism in government to relay another message to Canadian authorities in support of a request to question Igor "Gouzenko," former Soviet code clerk at Ottawa.

Gouzenko, who now lives with his family in an Ontario town under an assumed name and has a Royal Canadian Mounted Police guard, broke with his Soviet masters in 1945 and supplied the Canadian government with information about Russian espionage activities.

First Request Rejected

A first request of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee for an opportunity to question him was turned down by the Canadian government, which said U. S. authorities had been promptly advised of all information of value to them.

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind.) questioned this, however, and at his request Dulles asked the Canadian government last Thursday to reconsider its refusal to allow a subcommittee representative to interview Gouzenko.

Jenner said the subcommittee has reason to believe that the former Soviet code clerk could furnish it with information that would be of value in its efforts to trace the activities for former federal officials who have been accused of spying for Russia.

Public Hearings Resume

The subcommittee, which will resume public hearings tomorrow afternoon (2 p. m. EST), has been probing into the explosive case of Harry Dexter White, former assistant secretary of the Treasury, and others who were associated with him in the government.

Jenner, in his new letter to Dulles, said he was enclosing an "authenticated copy of a signed statement" by Gouzenko and asked that this be forwarded to the Canadian government in support of the subcommittee's renewed request to question Gouzenko.

The statement was one the Chicago Tribune obtained from Gouzenko, a copy of which was made available to the subcommittee.

In it Gouzenko was quoted as saying that, although he had no information which he had not already given to the Canadian government, he thought he could give useful advice.

Korean Orphan, Ex-GI Reunited

OMAHA, Nov. 22 (AP)—A dimpled Korean waif with snapping black eyes buckled a brace of brand new six-guns across his 5-year-old tummy today and shot up Omaha's Union Station in fine Western style.

Beside him, pulling a seemingly endless array of presents from a small suitcase, was his bachelor foster-father, Paul Raynor, 25, an ex-sergeant from Huron, S. D. Raynor had adopted Jimmy in Korea but was forced to leave him behind when he returned from military service because of immigration difficulties.

When Jimmy reached Omaha in the pre-dawn hours today Raynor raced down the train platform on the dead run and swept Jimmy into his arms like any other father, Jimmy, a so-called "GI baby" was orphaned when the North Korean Communists killed his mother. He was just another waif until Raynor noticed him one day and traced him down. The tall, blond Dakotan, in a 25-minute interview, persuaded the woman who was keeping Jimmy to give him up.

The American sergeant legally adopted Jimmy in May.

Assessments Standard Based On Sales

Allegany County's system of assessment of property for tax purposes is uniform with the standard set by the State Tax Commission, a report by the commission shows.

The commission, comprised of Owen E. Hitchens, of this city, Deeley K. Nice and John Wood Logan, decided to check the uniformity of assessments in the various subdivisions of Maryland.

The group asked the Maryland Association of Assessing Officers to appoint a committee, which comprised Somerville Nicholson, of Allegany County; Stephen M. Kahoe, of Harford County, and Wilton T. Allen, of Montgomery County, with Louis W. Kutsch, of Prince Georges County, alternate. All are supervisors of assessments in their counties.

This committee agreed, after a series of conferences, to use as a yard-stick a comparison of assessments made during a calendar year to sales made or sales shown for property during the same year.

There were allowances made for abnormalities and inflationary influences wherever they existed, the report states.

The study of the committee showed that based on dollar value, well over four-fifths of all assessed real estate in Maryland is fairly uniform, being at the rate of between 45 to 55 per cent of cash value.

Allegany County is among this group comprised of Anne Arundel,

Baltimore, Harford, Montgomery, Prince George's, Talbot and Washington counties and Baltimore City.

All other counties except seven are either at the rate of 40 per cent or very close. There will have to be special action taken in the case of the seven counties whose assessments are well below the established rate, the tax commission ruled. These are Calvert, Charles, Howard, Kent, St. Mary's, Somerset and Worcester counties.

Fingerprinting was not adopted as a method of identifying criminals until the 1800s.

New Moves Against Polio

Poliomyelitis can put in an appearance at any time of the year, as witnessed by an outbreak in Canada. In the United States the "polio year" starts in March. With that date in mind, the first moves in the annual fight against the dread disease are already under way.

If the public mind it will be more of a "battle" this year. Heretofore, most of the preparations have been of a passive variety, and the philosophy was to build the individual child's organic defenses to as high a state as possible, while eliminating places of refuge for the polio virus in the community.

Results of gamma globulin injections last summer are still not clear, but there is reason to believe that GG shots may have mitigated the ravages of the disease in epidemic areas.

Next year the battle will be joined as the first anti-virus injections are tested on approximately 1,000,000 children between six and eight years of age in 200 counties. The experiment will make use of the serum developed under the aegis of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis by a Pittsburgh doctor.

On the basis of experiments on a guinea pig group of 700 persons, including adults and children, the serum has successfully formed antibodies against all three strains of polio virus, any of which can cause mild or severe paralysis, or death.

By setting up careful controls and by using standard methods the foundation hopes that by 1955 it will have a clear answer to the usefulness of the new serum. The total cost of preparing and administering a total of three shots to each of 1,000,000 youngsters has been estimated at $7,500,000, an amount which the foundation has contracted to pay.

"Faust" Without Folly

No one got drunk or disorderly at the opening of the Metropolitan Opera season in New York the other night. Not a dowager hoisted her heels on the table. No white-tied millionaire stood on his head or poured champagne into his hat. Bejeweled grandmas behaved themselves.

The audience was so sedate that it simply amazed the New York Times, which has had occasion to deplore—while reporting extensively—the exhibitionist shenanigans of the past.

"It was one of the most orderly gatherings at a Metropolitan first night in many years," the Times reported. "There was a contingent of Pinkerton men to help out, but the temper of the assemblage was relatively sedate."

Never neglectful of details, the Times cased the joint thoroughly. It found the tables in Sherry's grand tier restaurant deserted after the curtain went up. "No one, at least during the early acts," said the Times carefully, "appeared to have come to the opera not to see the opera." "Faust" without foolishness, you might say.

The Met's suppression of its obstreperous customers is doubtless a gain for public decorum. Oldsters in their cups acting like teen-agers are not diverting. But some readers must have been disappointed to learn that opera firstnighters had become as respectable as the long-hairs who haunt the place during the rest of the season.

Even the Times seemed a little regretful that it could criticize nothing more regrettable than a hammy Mephistopheles.

Unscrambling Begins

Britain's denationalization program has been compared to unscrambling an egg. But maybe Prime Minister Churchill's government has heard about that slogan of the American Seabees: "The difficult we do immediately; the impossible takes a little longer."

At any rate, it has begun to denationalize the steel industry. And it has made an unexpectedly auspicious beginning. It could be interjected here that such things are done more speedily in this country. When Truman illegally seized the U. S. steel industry, the courts immediately returned the plants to their owners.

Early this month the British government offered for sale 14,000,000 shares of United Steel Companies Ltd., at the equivalent of $3.50 a share. "This it did with some trepidation, for there have been repeated threats that the Laborites will immediately re-nationalize the industry if they ever return to power—and will not compensate owners."

Officials of the Conservative government were afraid that investors might not care to put their money in an industry with such an uncertain future. They need not have worried. When the offer expired, applications for 40,000,000 shares had been received from 52,000 individuals. Officials are now looking forward to much smoother sailing for the denationalization program than they had dared hope for. Many companies remain to be denationalized, but the argument that when an industry has been nationalized, it cannot be returned to private owners, has been demolished.

Will Reason Prevail?

Positions in the Trieste dispute are being modified to the point where a five-power conference on division of the "free territory" between Italy and Yugoslavia soon may be possible. It is not clear, however, that the Anglo-American decision announced October 8 can be made to stick without amendment.

That proposed to turn over to Italian control the whole of Zone A, including the city of Trieste, which is occupied by American and British troops, while leaving Zone B in possession of Yugoslavia, whose troops are in occupation there.

The Italian government at first insisted this scheme must be accepted intact by the proposed conference, in which France would participate with the four other nations involved. Subsequently Rome dropped this insistence. Now Tito, the Yugoslav dictator, is receding a bit from his early intransigence.

He is now willing that the port city go to Italy, provided Yugoslavia gets most of the surrounding territory, Zone A as well as Zone B. Any settlement must provide that the port of Trieste continue to serve the entire hinterland, so it would seem a reasonable solution could be agreed upon.

Modern Treatment Of Burns

The modern treatment of burns is so complicated that the physician in charge must also know mathematics and chemistry to do the job right. Second and third degree burns often have a profound effect upon the chemistry of the body. Shock follows and unless corrected the outcome is poor even though the charred areas are given the most skillful care.

Now and then we are asked how physicians estimate the percentage of body surface that is burned. We usually follow a rule that was devised by Dr. A. B. Wallace who counted each upper extremity as 9 per cent of the total surface and the back and front of the trunk and the lower extremities as 18 per cent each. The remaining 19 per cent includes the head and neck. This rule is helpful in treatment and predicting the outcome. Adults with burns extending over less than 25 per cent of the body surface usually get well. Those with 25 to 50 per cent need blood or other solutions into the vein as a life saving measure. Burns exceeding 50 per cent leave the body in critical condition but the outcome depends upon the age of the individual and the depth of the burn. A man or woman over 60 may not survive a severe burn even though it involves 15 to 20 per cent of the body surface.

The amount of fluid and colloidal material used in treating burn shock is calculated by taking the body surface into consideration. Chemistry enters the picture when choosing the type of solution needed to counteract burn shock. The internal changes are due to loss of potassium, sodium, and chloride from the burned areas and the adjacent tissues.

The local treatment of the skin has been simplified to cleansing the burned area, applying a bland ointment, and covering the parts with a pressure bandage. Oils, greases, antiseptics and medicated ointments are no longer used and crusting agents are taboo. There is no magic product that will stimulate the wound to heal faster than the body's own ability to heal. The idea of cleansing the burned area with soap and water developed when it was realized that burns are open wounds. They are troublesome and dangerous because they may become infected easily and produce ugly and disfiguring scars.

Nowadays the burned areas are cleansed thoroughly and the dead tissue and foreign material are removed carefully so that the wound is completely sterile. The surface is covered with a single layer of closely woven gauze impregnated with petrolatum. This is covered in turn with sheets of gauze, mechanics waste, or gauze fluff of sufficient depth to afford even compression when a final supportive layer of bandage or elastic bandage is applied. At the end of this period a decision is made as to whether the skin will heal spontaneously or skin grafting is needed.

TEETH AND RHEUMATISM
F. Y. writes: Could rheumatism result from two bad teeth?
REPLY

This is conceivable, but the chances probably are less than one in 1,000. At the turn of the century, focal infections were considered a common cause of this disorder and tooth removal was necessary. If teeth are abscessed, however, they are taken out because they represent infection rather than the cause of rheumatism.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR
M. writes: I'm a woman and have to shave every day. I'm afraid my boss will fire me for this. What should I do?
REPLY

There are several ways to remove unwanted hair and one of the best is electrolysis. I suggest that you ask your physician to recommend the name of a competent operator.

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE
E. J. writes: My husband's physician has just told him that he has hypotension (90). Do you have a leaflet on this condition?
REPLY

Yes. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for it.

VALVE DEFECT
F. P. writes: Does a leaking heart valve ever heal by itself?
REPLY

Healing may occur during the early stages, i. e., immediately following an attack of rheumatic fever. But once the defect is established, spontaneous healing never occurs. An innocent murmur, however, may disappear and some of the spontaneous cures we hear about were cases in which a functional murmur was mistaken for a true leakage.

LUNG DISORDER
C. M. writes: Will alcoholic beverages have an irritating effect on emphysema?
REPLY

Not when used in moderation.

NERVOUS STOMACH
B. C. writes: Can anything be done for a weak stomach?

If you refer to a stomach that is easily upset, the only remedy is to strengthen the mind.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Nixon's Diplomacy Disturbs State Department; Presidential Weight Back To School-Day Level; Talbott Blames Translators For Atom-Storage Slip

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dulles is not happy, to put it mildly, over Vice President Nixon's impromptu diplomacy on his Far Eastern tour. He feels that Nixon has reached for too many headlines, may have put personal publicity ahead of American foreign policy.

After Dulles announced that the United States may some day recognize Red China, for example, Nixon assured Chiang Kai-shek in Formosa that the secretary of state really didn't mean what he said. Naturally, Dulles was furious.

Again, in Indo-China, Nixon called upon the French to press the war against the Communist guerrillas to total victory. The French protested afterward that the United States didn't fight the Korean War to total victory, and that the French might settle for an honorable truce in Indo-China too.

Again, in Seoul, Nixon pledged U. S. support to Syngman Rhee in his struggle for a united Korea.

Rhee promptly interpreted this as meaning that the United States would help him fight his way back to the Yalu, in case the political talks break down. Yet this isn't American policy at all.

All this is why Nixon is now reading from prepared manuscripts—manuscripts which are scrutinized by U. S. diplomats in advance.

Junketing Congressmen
So many congressmen have been demanding free airplane rides around Europe that the Air Force mission which is supposed to train French pilots has kept most of its planes busy catering to vacationing congressmen.

Since Congress adjourned three months ago, 246 members of Congress, believe it or not, have shown up at the Air Force mission in Paris demanding free transportation.

Most of them have been accompanied by their wives or secretaries. Some have been accompanied by both their wives and secretaries—plus even their secretaries' wives.

Dieting Ike
When President Eisenhower, who is on a diet, had breakfast the other morning with hefty GOP Congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio, also on a diet, the conversation naturally got around to their respective weights.

"I'm doing all right on the scales," said Brown. "I'm down to 206 pounds. Believe it or not, that's almost exactly what I weighed when I played my last game of football back in 1916. It was a semi-pro game. Before that I had been a regular on the Washington and Lee University team."

"Well, oddly enough, the same is true in my case," grinned the President. "I weighed 174 stripped, which is exactly what I weighed when I played my last game of football for Army. I gained about 10 pounds during the summer but have since taken them off by dieting."

The two dieting ex-footballers both ate a light breakfast—half a grapefruit, one soft-boiled egg, toast, marmalade and black coffee. But they seemed to enjoy it.

Foot-In-Mouth Talbott
Secretary of the Air Force Talbott is still in the Pentagon doghouse.

After his return from Europe, Harold was called on the carpet by his boss, Secretary of Defense, Wilson, to explain his unauthorized statement about sending A-bombs to Spain. Talbott swore it was all the fault of the Spanish translators, and that what he had said was: The United States would support Spain with A-bombs. The way the translators unscrambled it, Talbott claimed, the word "support" came out as "supply," so he was quoted as saying the United States would supply Spain with A-bombs.

Wilson, however, still wasn't appeased. He pointed out that Talbott had kept on sticking his foot in his mouth even after he left Spain, and had made a remark about cutting down the size of our forces in Europe, though President Eisenhower had announced no such idea was contemplated. Furthermore, Talbott made a statement about going full-speed ahead on bases that the U. S. intends to take its time building. And he promised Turkey F-86 jet interceptors, when she is really going to get F-84 jets for ground support.

As a result of all this, Talbott was warned to watch his words in the future or be fired.

He Stepped On Toes
Clarence Randall, the Inland Steel mogul, now "commissioning" for Ike, has stepped on the toes of two angry, powerful members of Congress. They are House Ways and Means Chairman Dan Reed of New York and Senate Finance Chairman Gene Millikin of Colorado. Both are serving on the Randall Commission to study foreign trade.

Randall, who favors low tariffs, invited Paul Hoffman, who also favors low tariffs, to be the lead-off witness when the commission called in businessmen to get their views on tariffs. But Reed and Millikin, who believe in high tariffs, wanted ex-President Herbert Hoover to testify too.

Randall refused. He didn't want a parade of celebrities testifying, he explained. Reed and Millikin argued that Hoffman, as former foreign-aid boss, was just as much of a celebrity as Hoover. But Randall wouldn't invite Hoover, and Reed and Millikin are irked in the extreme.

What About Sheep?
I am not optimistic over the sheep outlook. The industry has been on the downgrade in the U. S. since 1942. Feeble attempts at expansion were made in 1951 and 1952, but were not sustained. Increased production costs, plus stiff competition from foreign wool and synthetic fibers, argue against any major upturn in domestic sheep numbers over the next few years.

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

Who Won?

WASHINGTON

In plain, hard, practical political terms, who has won the grisly battle over the defunct Harry Dexter White? This is the question which the politicians of both parties are asking themselves most anxiously. As of the moment at least, the best answer appears to be "nobody."

Not even the "most ardent partisans of the former President argue that Truman, his administration or his party have emerged unscathed. Indeed, if Attorney General Brownell's charge against Truman is limited to simple "laxity," most Democrats will admit in private that he has proved it down to the ground.

If Truman actually had no notion of the evidence against White until it was too late to stop his confirmation, the staff work in the White House at the time must indeed have been "incredible," to use a favorite Brownell adjective. Moreover, it is clear at least by hindsight that Truman chose the worst of the three alternative methods of dealing with White which were proposed to him by his subordinates.

It is also clear that when this alternative—allowing White to take his job in the Monetary Fund but keeping a close watch on him—was chosen, there was no effective follow-up at all. Truman's off-the-cuff statements on the matter have been shown to be dead wrong; no explanation at all has been offered for the warm Truman letter to White when White resigned, and Truman's carefully prepared Monday night defense was woefully weak at several points.

Named Second-Raters

Finally, the whole episode has served to remind the voters of Truman's penchant for second-raters and his habit of making such inexcusable appointments as that of Tom Clark to the Supreme Court. All this would seem to add up to a brilliant political victory for Brownell, the Eisenhower administration, and the Republican party.

Some Republicans claim that it is just that. But others are not so sure. As one observer has remarked, "Brownell made the wrong charge at the wrong place at the wrong time."

The victory might indeed have been brilliant if Brownell had chosen to prove, at an appropriate place and for a serious national purpose, that the Truman administration, particularly in its first years, was demonstrably and dangerously woolly-headed about Communist espionage.

Instead, Brownell made his accusation against Truman on a political occasion, just after the New Jersey Republican defeat and just before the California election. He thus threw himself wide open to a counter-charge of playing an unsavory brand of politics.

Moreover, Brownell did not content himself with charging simple "laxity." What really created the tremendous stir was Brownell's assertion that "Truman promoted a Russian spy and knew it," as the "New York Times" headline put it.

It is obviously silly to hold that a chief executive who knowingly promotes Russian spies is merely "lax"—this is like claiming that a man who shoots his wife is merely absent-minded. Moreover, Brownell has failed to prove this immensely grave accusation.

This failure is underscored by Brownell's reported omission of a key statement—to the effect that the FBI could not "prove or disprove" the charges against White—from the FBI report which he summarized in such detail. Truman did not "know" that White was a "Russian spy," and unproved charges cannot legitimately be equated with knowledge of guilt.

Fear Bad Taste

The Democrats claim to believe that Brownell's over-statement of his case will boomerang, not only because of the Presidency of the United States is involved, but also because it is simply impossible to imagine Harry S. Truman in the role of condoner of treason. They also believe that Rep. Harold Velde's idiotic attempt to subpoena the former President has left a particularly bad taste in the voters' mouths.

Preliminary soundings do indicate that most voters are writing off the whole business as "just politics." If so, Brownell and the Republicans do not appear to be real winners of the White battle, any more than Truman and the Democrats.

The country is certainly not the winner. The antics of Sen. Joseph McCarthy and others have caused such a precipitous collapse of American prestige abroad that the National Security Council some time ago undertook a serious study of this matter. The wild accusations and counter-accusations which followed Brownell's first wild charge should just about complete the wreckage of this country's claim to responsible leadership. Most Europeans, including those friendly to the United States, are about ready to conclude that Americans have gone crazy.

One sometimes wonders if they are not partly right. Fear begets madness, and President Eisenhower, as he remarked sadly at his press conference, does not "believe that we can live in fear of each other forever." This remark is worth pondering, even as the practical politicians anxiously tete up the political profit and loss in the White case.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

What The Spies Accomplished

The various spy groups, organized in this country were enormously effective and accomplished more than we know. The following is an attempt to bring together a list of their achievements:

1. The Rosenberg ring stole the atom bomb and infiltrated scientific agencies of the armed forces engaged in experimental work. Rosenberg personally stole a proximity fuse. He organized a capable group of agents at the Signal Corps stations at Astoria, Long Island, and at Fort Monmouth in New Jersey. This group stole our radar developments for Soviet Russia.

Julius Rosenberg must have been more important than we yet know because the Fort Monmouth investigation indicates that his work was widely distributed over the country and reached into private industries manufacturing essential war materials.

2. Amtorg, set up as a trading company, was a cover for economic espionage, the extent of which is not yet fully disclosed. Enough is known, however, to confirm the suspicion that Amtorg took advantage of the friendliness of American business houses to a customer to obtain production plans.

3. The policy of the State Department, particularly as to China, came under the control of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which was used by an espionage group as a base for activities. This group, of which Alger Hiss and Lauchlin Currie were effective, was dominated by Edward C. Carter and Frederick Vanderbilt Field. It corralled a number of capable American writers who, by placing many articles in American magazines and writing what seemed to be authoritative books, established an atmosphere, particularly in the State Department, favorable to Communist China. Owen Lattimore, now under indictment, was one of the leading experts projected before the American people by the Institute of Pacific Relations. During the periods when George Marshall and Dean Acheson were in charge of the State Department, the institute group dominated American policy.

4. Alger Hiss worked his way up into high echelons in the State Department, being President Roosevelt's expert at Yalta where all the decisions were favorable to Soviet Russia. He was the principal American official in charge of the San Francisco Conference where the Charter of the United Nations was prepared.

5. The OWI, the American

propaganda agency during World War II, contained an effective pro-Communist cell. Agencies serving the OWI consisted of European so-called experts, many of whom were Communists. Joseph Barnes, named several times as a Communist in congressional committee hearings, was in charge of the New York office.

6. The International Information Administration, which includes the Voice of America, was penetrated deeply by Communists, pro-Communists and pro-Russians. Investigations by congressional committees produced evidence of such infiltration. The cleaning-out job in this agency has not been done satisfactorily.

7. Books, pamphlets, lecture courses prepared for troops abroad during World War II, and even current indoctrination courses prepared for military officers, have been slanted favorably toward the Russian point of view. As recently as January 1952, the General Headquarters of the United Nations and the Far East Command, Military Intelligence Section, issued a book to indoctrinate intelligence officers entitled "Psychological and Cultural Traits of Soviet Siberia." This is definitely a Communist book, designed to "brain-wash" American officers. Testimony concerning it developed in closed hearings before the McCarthy Committee. It is here cited as an example of a continuing process.

8. The White House staff was infiltrated by the presence of Lauchlin Currie and Michael Rosenberg when Roosevelt was President. Lauchlin Currie played a signal role in the formation of the China policy and in placing Communists, pro-Communists and their allies in various agencies of government. The role of David K. Niles, often discussed but never quite established by public evidence, must be mentioned in passing.

9. The hearings before the Jenner Committee, during which Attorney General Brownell and FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover testified, established the existence of an espionage ring in the Treasury headed by Harry Dexter White. This was a section of an espionage apparatus headed by Nathan Gregory Silvermaster.

Similar groups existed in the Department of Agriculture in the AAA, the National Labor Relations Board, the Department of Commerce and other agencies of government.

This is the beginning of the evidence.

Modern Treatment Of Burns

The modern treatment of burns is so complicated that the physician in charge must also know mathematics and chemistry to do the job right. Second and third degree burns often have a profound effect upon the chemistry of the body. Shock follows and unless corrected the outcome is poor even though the charred areas are given the most skillful care.

Now and then we are asked how physicians estimate the percentage of body surface that is burned. We usually follow a rule that was devised by Dr. A. B. Wallace who counted each upper extremity as 9 per cent of the total surface and the back and front of the trunk and the lower extremities as 18 per cent each. The remaining 10 per cent includes the head and neck. This rule is helpful in treatment and predicting the outcome. Adults with burns extending over less than 25 per cent of the body surface usually get well. Those with 25 to 50 per cent need blood or other solutions into the vein as a life saving measure. Burns exceeding 50 per cent leave the body in critical condition but the outcome depends upon the age of the individual and the depth of the burn. A man or woman over 60 may not survive a severe burn even though it involves 15 to 20 per cent of the body surface.

The amount of fluid and colloidal material used in treating burn shock is calculated by taking the body surface into consideration. Chemistry enters the picture when choosing the type of solution needed to counteract burn shock. The internal changes are due to loss of potassium, sodium, and chloride from the burned areas and the adjacent tissues.

The local treatment of the skin has been simplified to cleansing the burned area, applying a bland ointment, and covering the parts with a pressure bandage. Oils, greases, antiseptics and medicated ointments are no longer used and crusting agents are taboo. There is no magic product that will stimulate the wound to heal faster than the body's own ability to heal. The idea of cleansing the burned area with soap and water developed when it was realized that burns are open wounds. They are troublesome and dangerous because they may become infected easily and produce ugly and disfiguring scars.

Nowadays the burned areas are cleansed thoroughly and the dead tissue and foreign material are removed carefully so that the wound is completely sterile. The surface is covered with a single layer of closely woven gauze impregnated with petroleum. This is covered in turn with sheets of gauze, mechanics waste, or gauze fluff of sufficient depth to afford even compression when a final supportive layer of bandage or elastic bandage is applied. At the end of this period a decision is made as to whether the skin will heal spontaneously or skin grafting is needed.

TOMORROW: Anemia stems from one of three causes.

TEETH AND RHEUMATISM

F. Y. writes: Could rheumatism result from two bad teeth?

REPLY: This is conceivable, but the chances probably are less than one in 1,000. At the turn of the century, focal infections were considered a common cause of this disorder and most rheumatics had tonsils and teeth removed. We now know that wholesale removal is unnecessary. If teeth are abscessed, however, they are taken out because they represent infection rather than the cause of rheumatism.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

M. writes: I'm a woman and have to shave every day. I'm afraid my boss will fire me for this. What should I do?

REPLY: There are several ways to remove unwanted hair and one of the best is electrolysis. I suggest that you ask your physician to recommend the name of a competent operator.

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE

E. J. writes: My husband's physician has just told him that he has hypotension (90). Do you have a leaflet on this condition?

REPLY: Yes. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for it.

VALVE DEFECT

F. P. writes: Does a leaking heart valve ever heal by itself?

REPLY: Healing may occur during the early stages, i. e., immediately following an attack of rheumatic fever. But once the defect is established, spontaneous healing never occurs. An innocent murmur, however, may disappear and some of the spontaneous cures we hear about were cases in which a functional murmur was mistaken for a true leakage.

LUNG DISORDER

C. M. writes: Will alcoholic beverages have an irritating effect on emphysema?

REPLY: Not when used in moderation.

NERVOUS STOMACH

B. C. writes: Can anything be done for a weak stomach?

REPLY: If you refer to a stomach that is easily upset, the only remedy is to strengthen the mind.

Nixon's Diplomacy Disturbs State Department; Presidential Weight Back To School-Day Level; Talbott Blames Translators For Atom-Storage Slip

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dulles is not happy, to put it mildly, over Vice President Nixon's impromptu diplomacy on his Far Eastern tour. He feels that Nixon has reached for too many headlines, may have put personal publicity ahead of American foreign policy.

After Dulles announced that the United States may some day recognize Red China, for example, Nixon assured Chiang Kai-shek in Formosa that the secretary of state really didn't mean what he said. Naturally, Dulles was furious.

Again, in Indo-China, Nixon called upon the French to press the war against the Communist guerrillas to total victory. The French protested afterward that the United States didn't fight the Korean War to total victory, and that the French might settle for an honorable truce in Indo-China too.

Again, in Seoul, Nixon pledged U. S. support to Syngman Rhee in his struggle for a united Korea.

Livestock Situation

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Although I own a 12,000-acre ranch in Florida, I have never gone in for livestock raising; hence, I am by no means an expert on this branch of agriculture. What I have to say on the subject is purely from the layman's point of view.

Headaches In Cattle Country

The cattle business is an up-and-down affair, and is one in which the inexperienced operator can lose his shirt. For about a dozen war and postwar years the industry prospered. Everyone in it was making money, and as a consequence everyone wanted "to get into the act," with or without experience. The big operators also expanded, despite high prices for stockers and feeders. Cattle numbers increased rapidly, until the number on U. S. farms hit an all-time high of 93,696,000 head as of January 1, 1953. The number on feed on that date also stood at a record high of 5,836,000 head—16 per cent above a year earlier. The cattle cycle trend cannot quickly be altered.

Attractive prices were the chief expansion lure. Weekly average cattle prices had soared to $37.35 a hundredweight by September 1951. In April 1951, prices of heavy steers at Chicago stood at $43.50. But trouble in the form of drought was brewing in the Southwest. Prolonged hot, dry weather scorched the Southwest and other areas in 1952 and 1953. Pastures virtually evaporated. Feed shortages mounted in the stricken areas. Many ranchers had no alternative but to rush their cattle to market. As a result, the bottom fell out. Cattle prices at Chicago recently averaged $25.40; heavy steers prices $29.75. Many cattle raisers today are in serious difficulty.

Action And Reaction

The Law of Action and Reaction applies as much to the cattle industry as it does to any other industry, or to the entire national economy. Overexpansion in any direction inevitably leads to a readjustment, which often is painful. We appear to be at or near a cyclical peak in the number of cattle; the next broad move will be down. Even so, the number of cattle on farms next January may not differ materially from that of a year earlier. This means that slaughter and supplies of beef will

Rhee promptly interpreted this as meaning that the United States would help him fight his way back to the Yalu, in case the political talks break down. Yet this isn't American policy at all.

All this is why Nixon is now reading from prepared manuscripts—manuscripts which are scrutinized by U. S. diplomats in advance.

Junketing Congressmen
So many congressmen have been demanding free airplane rides around Europe that the Air Force mission which is supposed to train French pilots has kept most of its planes busy catering to vacationing congressmen.

Since Congress adjourned three months ago, 246 members of Congress, believe it or not, have shown up at the Air Force mission in Paris demanding free transportation.

Most of them have been accompanied by their wives or secretaries. Some have been accompanied by both their wives and secretaries—plus even their secretaries' wives.

Dieting Ives
When President Eisenhower, who is on a diet, had breakfast the other morning with hefty GOP Congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio, also on a diet, the conversation naturally got around to their respective weights.

"I'm doing all right on the scales," said Brown. "I'm down to 206 pounds. Believe it or not, that's almost exactly what I weighed when I played my last game of football back in 1916. It was a semi-pro game. Before that I had been a regular on the Washington and Lee University team."

"Well, oddly enough, the same is true in my case," grinned the President. "I weighed 174 stripped, which is exactly what I weighed when I played my last game of football for Army. I gained about 10 pounds during the summer but have since taken them off by dieting."

The two dieting ex-footballers both ate a light breakfast—half a grapefruit, one soft-boiled egg, toast, marmalade and black coffee. But they seemed to enjoy it.

Foot-In-Mouth Talbott
Secretary of the Air Force Talbott is still in the Pentagon doghouse.

After his return from Europe, Harold was called on the carpet by his boss, Secretary of Defense, Wilson, to explain his unauthorized statement about sending A-bombs to Spain. Talbott swore it was all the fault of the Spanish translators, and that what he had said was: The United States would support Spain with A-bombs. The way the translators "unscrambled" it, Talbott claimed, the word "support" came out as "supply," so he was quoted as saying the United States would supply Spain with A-bombs.

Wilson, however, still wasn't appeased. He pointed out that Talbott had kept on sticking his foot in his mouth even after he left Spain, and had made a remark about cutting down the size of our forces in Europe, though President Eisenhower had announced no such idea was contemplated. Furthermore, Talbott made a statement about going full-speed ahead on bases that the U. S. intends to take its time building. And he promised Turkey F-86 jet interceptors, when she is really going to get F-84 jets for ground support.

As a result of all this, Talbott was warned to watch his words in the future or be fired.

He Stepped On Toes
Clarence Randall, the Inland Steel mogul, now "commissioning" for Ike, has stepped on the toes of two angry, powerful members of Congress. They are House Ways and Means Chairman Dan Reed of New York and Senate Finance Chairman Gene Millikin of Colorado. Both are serving on the Randall Commission to study foreign trade.

Randall, who favors low tariffs, invited Paul Hoffman, who also favors low tariffs, to be the lead-off witness when the commission called in businessmen to get their views on tariffs. But Reed and Millikin, who believe in high tariffs, invited ex-President Herbert Hoover to testify too.

Randall refused. He didn't want a parade of celebrities testifying, he explained. Reed and Millikin argued that Hoffman, as former foreign-aid boss, was just as much of a celebrity as Hoover. But Randall wouldn't invite Hoover, and Reed and Millikin are irked in the extreme.

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

Who Won?

WASHINGTON

In plain, hard, practical political terms, who has won the grisly battle over the defunct Harry Dexter White? This is the question which the politicians of both parties are asking themselves most anxiously. As of the moment at least, the best answer appears to be "nobody."

Not even the most ardent partisans of the former President argue that Truman, his administration or his party have emerged unscathed. Indeed, if Attorney General Brownell's charge against Truman is limited to simple "laxity," most Democrats will admit in private that he has proved it down to the ground.

If Truman actually had no notion of the evidence against White until it was too late to stop his confirmation, the staff work in the White House at the time must indeed have been "incredible," to use a favorite Brownell adjective. Moreover, it is clear at least by hindsight that Truman chose the worst of the three alternative methods of dealing with White which were proposed to him by his subordinates.

It is also clear that when this alternative—allowing White to take his job in the Monetary Fund but keeping a close watch on him—was chosen, there was no effective follow-up at all. Truman's off-the-cuff statements on the matter have been shown to be dead wrong; no explanation at all has been offered for the warm Truman letter to White when White resigned, and Truman's carefully prepared Monday night defense was woefully weak at several points.

Named Second-Raters

Finally, the whole episode has served to remind the voters of Truman's penchant for second-raters and his habit of making such inexcusable appointments as that of Tom Clark to the Supreme Court. All this would seem to add up to a brilliant political victory for Brownell, the Eisenhower administration, and the Republican party.

Some Republicans claim that it is just that. But others are not so sure. As one observer has remarked, "Brownell made the wrong charge at the wrong place at the wrong time."

The victory might indeed have been brilliant if Brownell had chosen to prove, at an appropriate place and for a serious national purpose, that the Truman administration, particularly in its first years, was demonstrably and dangerously woolly-headed about Communist espionage.

Instead, Brownell made his accusation against Truman on a political occasion, just after the New Jersey Republican defeat and just before the California election. He thus threw himself wide open to a counter-charge of playing an unsavory brand of politics.

Moreover, Brownell did not content himself with charging simple "laxity." What really created the tremendous stir was Brownell's assertion that "Truman promoted a Russian spy and knew it," as the "New York Times" headline put it.

It is obviously silly to hold that a chief executive who knowingly promotes Russian spies is merely "lax"—this is like claiming that a man who shoots his wife is merely absent-minded. Moreover, Brownell has failed to prove this immensely grave accusation.

This failure is underscored by Brownell's reported omission of a key statement—to the effect that the FBI could not "prove or disprove" the charges against White—from the FBI report which he summarized in such detail. Truman did not "know" that White was a "Russian spy," and unproved charges cannot legitimately be equated with knowledge of guilt.

Fear Bad Taste

The Democrats claim to believe that Brownell's over-statement of his case will boomerang, not only because of the Presidency of the United States is involved, but also because it is simply impossible to imagine Harry S. Truman in the role of condoner of treason. They also believe that Rep. Harold Velde's idiotic attempt to subpoena the former President has left a particularly bad taste in the voters' mouths.

Preliminary soundings do indicate that most voters are writing off the whole business as "just politics." If so, Brownell and the Republicans do not appear to be real winners of the White battle, any more than Truman and the Democrats.

The country is certainly not the winner. The antics of Sen. Joseph McCarthy and others have caused such a precipitous collapse of American prestige abroad that the National Security Council some time ago undertook a serious study of this matter. The wild accusations and counter-accusations which followed Brownell's first wild charge should just about complete the wreckage of this country's claim to responsible leadership. Most Europeans, including those friendly to the United States, are about ready to conclude that Americans have gone crazy.

One sometimes wonders if they are not partly right. Fear begets madness, and President Eisenhower, as he remarked sadly at his press conference, does not believe that we can live in fear of each other forever." This remark is worth pondering, even as the practical politicians anxiously trot up the political profit and loss in the White case.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

What The Spies Accomplished

The various spy groups, organized in this country were enormously effective and accomplished more than we know. The following is an attempt to bring together a list of their achievements:

1. The Rosenberg ring stole the atom bomb and infiltrated scientific agencies of the armed forces engaged in experimental work. Rosenberg personally stole a proximity fuse. He organized a capable group of agents at the Signal Corps stations at Astoria, Long Island, and at Fort Monmouth in New Jersey. This group stole our radar developments for Soviet Russia.

Julius Rosenberg must have been more important than we yet know because the Fort Monmouth investigation indicates that his work was widely distributed over the country and reached into private industries manufacturing essential war materials.

2. Amtorg, set up as a trading company, was a cover for economic espionage, the extent of which is not yet fully disclosed. Enough is known, however, to confirm the suspicion that Amtorg took advantage of the friendliness of American business houses to a customer to obtain production plans.

3. The policy of the State Department, particularly as to China, came under the control of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which was used by an espionage group as a base for activities. This group, of which Alger Hiss and Lauchlin Currie were effective, was dominated by Edward C. Carter and Frederick Vanderbilt Field. It corralled a number of capable American writers who, by placing many articles in American magazines and writing what seemed to be authoritative books, established an atmosphere, particularly in the State Department, favorable to Communist China.

Owen Lattimore, now under indictment, was one of the leading experts projected before the American people by the Institute of Pacific Relations. During the periods when George Marshall and Dean Acheson were in charge of the State Department, the institute group dominated American policy.

Randall refused. He didn't want a parade of celebrities testifying, he explained. Reed and Millikin argued that Hoffman, as former foreign-aid boss, was just as much of a celebrity as Hoover. But Randall wouldn't invite Hoover, and Reed and Millikin are irked in the extreme.

4. Alger Hiss worked his way up into high echelons in the State Department, being President Roosevelt's expert at Yalta where all the decisions were favorable to Soviet Russia. He was the principal American official in charge of the San Francisco Conference where the Charter of the United Nations was prepared.

5. The OWI, the American

propaganda agency during World War II, contained an effective pro-Communist cell. Agencies serving the OWI consisted of European so-called experts, many of whom were Communists. Joseph Barnes, named several times as a Communist in congressional committee hearings, was in charge of the New York office.

6. The International Information Administration, which includes the Voice of America, was penetrated deeply by Communists, pro-Communists and pro-Russians. Investigations by congressional committees produced evidence of such infiltration. The cleaning-out job in this agency has not been done satisfactorily.

7. Books, pamphlets, lecture courses, prepared for troops abroad during World War II, and even current indoctrination courses prepared for military officers, have been slanted favorably toward the Russian point of view. As recently as January 1952, the General Headquarters of the United Nations and the Far East Command, Military Intelligence Section, issued a book to indoctrinate intelligence officers entitled "Psychological and Cultural Traits of Soviet Siberia." This is definitely a Communist book, designed to "brain-wash" American officers. Testimony concerning it developed in closed hearings before the McCarthy Committee. It is here cited as an example of a continuing process.

8. The White House staff was infiltrated by the presence of Lauchlin Currie and Michael Greenberg when Roosevelt was President. Lauchlin Currie played a signal role in the formation of the China policy and in placing Communists, pro-Communists and their allies in various agencies of government. The role of David K. Niles, often discussed but never quite established by public evidence, must be mentioned in passing.

9. The hearings before the Jenner Committee, during which Attorney General Brownell and FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover testified, established the existence of an espionage ring in the Treasury headed by Harry Dexter White. This was a section of an espionage apparatus headed by Nathan Gregory Silvermaster.

Similar groups existed in the Department of Agriculture in the AAA, the National Labor Relations Board, the Department of Commerce and other agencies of government.

This is the beginning of the evidence.

Paperworkers Approve Pact

Locals at Covington, Va., and Williamsburg, Pa., have joined Luke Local 676, United Paperworkers of America (CIO) in approving a new contract with the W. Va., Pulp and Paper Co., according to unofficial information. The pact calls for a wage increase, improved hospitalization, and additional overtime pay. Under a tentative agreement reached by union and company representatives at a recent session in Washington, workers were given a choice of a general four-cent an hour wage increase or a three per cent increase. The latter represents increases of from four to seven cents an hour depending on the present rate of pay. The union voted for the three per cent.

The daily hospital benefit was increased from $6 to $8 and miscellaneous hospital benefits from $60 to $80. The company and employees will each continue to pay half of the premium, the new contract meaning a slight increase for both.

The contract became effective as of November 16 and covers a period of one year.

A shirt with stripes matching the skirt gives more of a related look to your costume

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A shirt is no longer just a shirt. It's a source of individuality and something that can be worn to make a very subtle assertion of taste and discernment. What once was known as a shirt is now taking on the august stature of a cashmere sweater.

With the myriad variations made possible through fabric and the detailing and shaping of collars, cuffs, pockets and decorations, the shirt has acquired its fashionableness for every occasion and activity with the exception of actual formal evening functions. Today, many are collecting whole wardrobes of these classics to express every conceivable mood.

Color Coordinated
But, as with every popular fashion, there are ways of wearing shirts that are more becoming than others. If you wish to display your willowy figure — or make your figure look more wand-like, be sure that your shirt is marked with the same color as what you wear below. A winning costume for instance, would be a shirt of white with narrow navy worn with a navy gabardine skirt. Khaki-and-gray plaid slacks combined with a color-matched khaki jersey shirt will be eminently more slimming than the same slacks worn with a plain white shirt.

You display your flair for fashion when you combine fabrics in unexpected ways: A tailored satin shirt with a large jeweled clip at the collar, combined with a horse-blanket plaid wool skirt gives a dressy, feminine look. Another combination that accomplishes the same purpose is a pure-silk shirtwaist, softly stated and worn with an ankle-length skirt of heavy corduroy.

Personalized Effects
Along with the upswing in popularity of shirt-tail fashions, the interest in cuff links has mushroomed, with unusual types getting favored attention. Many is grandmother's and great-grandmother's button box has recently been raided to find ancient decorative buttons that make envied cuff links when looped together. Antique shops have been scoured for the same coveted remnants of another era.

Devotees of the currently popular ceramic and enameling arts are creating their own cuff links and making new insignias. And, confidentially, there's many a man today who is sporting such a pair with proud evidence of his beloved's art and ardor.

DON'T WASTE YOUR ACE
IN THESE days of weak opening suit bids of three, to crowd strong opponents, if you nevertheless reach a favorable contract, you are in position to do some important card counting. The declarer should know that such a bid, made when lacking the ace, is virtually certain to be on a suit of at least seven cards. In case your own side has six of the suit, including the ace, you should consider the partner of the opener to be blank in the suit. Hence you should not waste the ace, if it is in the dummy, by putting it on the king lead and getting it ruffed.

A shirt with stripes matching the skirt gives more of a related look to your costume

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A shirt is no longer just a shirt. It's a source of individuality and something that can be worn to make a very subtle assertion of taste and discernment. What once was known as a shirt is now taking on the august stature of a cashmere sweater.

With the myriad variations made possible through fabric and the detailing and shaping of collars, cuffs, pockets and decorations, the shirt has acquired its fashionable-ness for every occasion and activity with the exception of actual formal evening functions. Today, many are collecting whole wardrobes of these classics to express every conceivable mood.

Color Coordinated

But, as with every popular fashion, there are ways of wearing shirts that are more becoming than others. If you wish to display your willowy figure — or make your figure look more wand-like, be sure that your shirt is marked with the same color as what you wear below. A winning costume for instance, would be a shirt of white with narrow navy worn with a navy gabardine shirt. Khaki-and-gray plaid slacks combined with a color-matched khaki jersey shirt will be eminent-ly more slimming than the same slacks worn with a plain white shirt. You display your flair for fashion when you combine fabrics in unexpected ways: A tailored satin shirt with a large jeweled clip at the collar, combined with a horse-blanket plaid wool skirt gives a dressy, feminine look. Another combination that accomplishes the same purpose is a pure-silk shirtwaist, softly stated and worn with an ankle-length skirt of heavy corduroy.

Personalized Effects

Along with the upswing in popularity of shirt-tail fashions, the interest in cuff links has mushroomed, with unusual types getting favored attention. Many is grandmother's and great-grandmother's button box has recently been raided to find ancient decorative buttons that make envied cuff links when looped together. Antique shops have been scoured for the same coveted remnants of another era.

Devotees of the currently popular ceramic and enamelling arts are creating their own cuff links and making new insignias. And, confidentially, there's many a man today who is sporting such a pair with proud evidence of his beloved's art and ardor.

DON'T WASTE YOUR ACE

IN THESE days of weak opening suit bids of three, to crowd strong opponents, if you nevertheless reach a favorable contract, you are in position to do some important card counting. The declarer should know that such a bid, made when lacking the ace, is virtually certain to be on a suit of at least seven cards. In case your own side has six of the suit, including the ace, you should consider the partner of the opener to be blank in the suit. Hence you should not waste the ace, if it is in the dummy, by putting it on the king lead and getting it ruffed.

CARE OF WALL TO WALL CARPETING

To maintain the new appearance of carpeting, experience proves that spots should be removed as they appear rather than doing an over-all cleaning job once or twice each year.

There is available a foam cleaner that does not leave rings when removing spots since it contains no naphtha or solvents. The use of this foam when spots appear, preserves the new appearance and life of carpeting. This cleaner known as Fina Foam may be purchased at ROSENBAUM'S.

Henry K. Duke Is Honored With Insurance Fellowship

A thesis on "The Hazard and Insurance Survey — A Philosophy of Insurance" has brought to a Cumberland insurance consultant, Henry K. Duke, the highest distinction open to members of this business profession — a fellowship in the Insurance Institute of America.

There are only 100 Fellows of the I. I. A. in the entire United States. Duke had previously won his C. L. U. (Chartered Life Underwriter) from the American College of Life Underwriters, and his CPCU (Chartered Property-Casualty Underwriter) from the American Institute For Property and Liability Underwriters, both of Philadelphia. There are approximately 4000 insurance writers holding a CLU degree (similar to CPA for accountants) and about 1000 have gained the CPCU degree. A relatively few hold any two of these degrees.

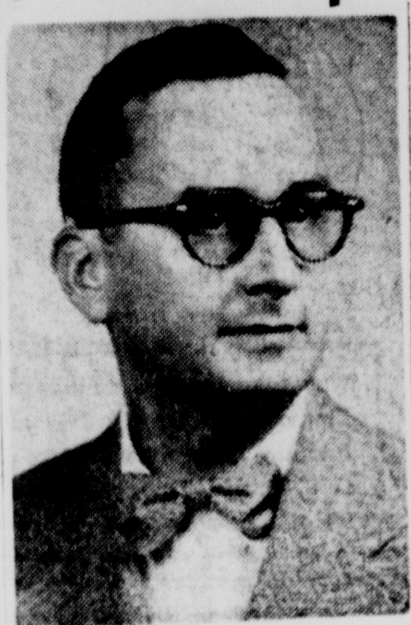

The Cumberland man is the only one who now holds all three educational degrees.

The thesis, submitted by Duke after three years of research and study, will be published in book form next year by the Insurance Institute of America, and will be used as a text book in universities giving specialized courses on the subject of insurance.

Duke interviewed many professional insurance buyers for the nation's largest corporations and discussed his project with many professional insurance consultants, safety directors, state insurance heads and university professors. He pored over the files of insurance magazines and consulted books in the Library of Congress, the New York Public Library, the Enoch Pratt Library, Baltimore, and the Wharton School, of the University of Pennsylvania. He gives special credit to the Cumberland Public Library for borrowing books from other libraries in many instances.

Game Program To Be Provided By Camper Club

The Allegany Camper Club will again publish and sell the fourth annual Thanksgiving Day football program for the Allegany-Fort Hill Turkey Day game. The program, a sixty-two page booklet, will carry pictures and histories of coaches, players and bands, plus items and pictures of players and teams of other years.

Beautifully lithographed, the book will be equal in interest and color to similar books published by colleges and universities. The proceeds, part of which go to Fort Hill Hi Y Boys, the balance to the Camper Club, for use in their work of assisting Allegany High School activities such as band uniforms, Junior Varsity and such affairs that are not included in the school budget.

The committee in charge of the program includes Roy C. Lottig, chairman, Frederic W. Eiler, Robert E. Barnard, Michael Beerman, Mrs. Albert Paye, Mrs. Elizabeth Landis, Robert F. Nicholls, Mrs. W. A. Sgt. Kimble Gets Bronze Star For Action In Korea

An area soldier has been awarded the Bronze Star medal with a "V" emblem for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the Communists in Korea.

Sgt. First Class Harlan B. Kimble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nalen Kimble, Shallmar, received the honor for action last June 14 while fighting in the vicinity of Kumsang, Korea.

The citation which accompanied his award follows, in part:

"Sgt. Kimble was chief of a howitzer section which was subject to intense counterfire after the enemy had broken the United Nations main line of resistance and advanced to within 2,000 yards of the battery perimeter.

"Although under a barrage which would normally force the battery to discontinue operations and seek protective cover, Sgt. Kimble continually exposed himself, encouraging his crew and directing effective fire.

Now try the Best Gasoline you can buy! Gives any engine TOTAL POWER the utmost working horsepower under today's all-round driving conditions NEW "TOTAL POWER" ESSO EXTRA

NEW "TOTAL POWER" ESSO EXTRA is a blend of hydro-carbon power components especially engineered to meet the total power and anti-knock requirements of even the highest-compression new engines. For millions of older cars it means better working horsepower and better total engine performance. It is not only the finest gasoline in Esso history... but the very best gasoline you can buy!

TOTAL POWER means just what it says. It means, to begin with, a great advance in sheer high-compression POWER under the toughest driving conditions. It means POWER to start fast in any weather... POWER for fast warm-up... POWER to kill off knocks and pings... POWER to resist cool weather stalling... POWER to take steep hills in stride... POWER to pick up swiftly from a standstill. It means that in the total of the jobs your engine is called on to do, you can expect the maximum that can be obtained from any gasoline that you can buy. The inevitable result is the kind of smooth performance and long mileage you've always wanted.

For the very newest in "Happy Motoring" try new "TOTAL POWER" ESSO EXTRA in your car today. You will find no other gasoline gives you more in extra performance under today's all-round driving conditions.

Total working horsepower for the highest-compression cars! For many late model high-compression cars "Total Power" Esso EXTRA makes it possible for the first time to enjoy full performance without a trace of knock or ping.

Total working horsepower for many new cars where total performance is now kept "under wraps" by retarding the spark to avoid knocking. These cars may now be set to fully efficient tuning, giving more horsepower, better gasoline mileage, too!

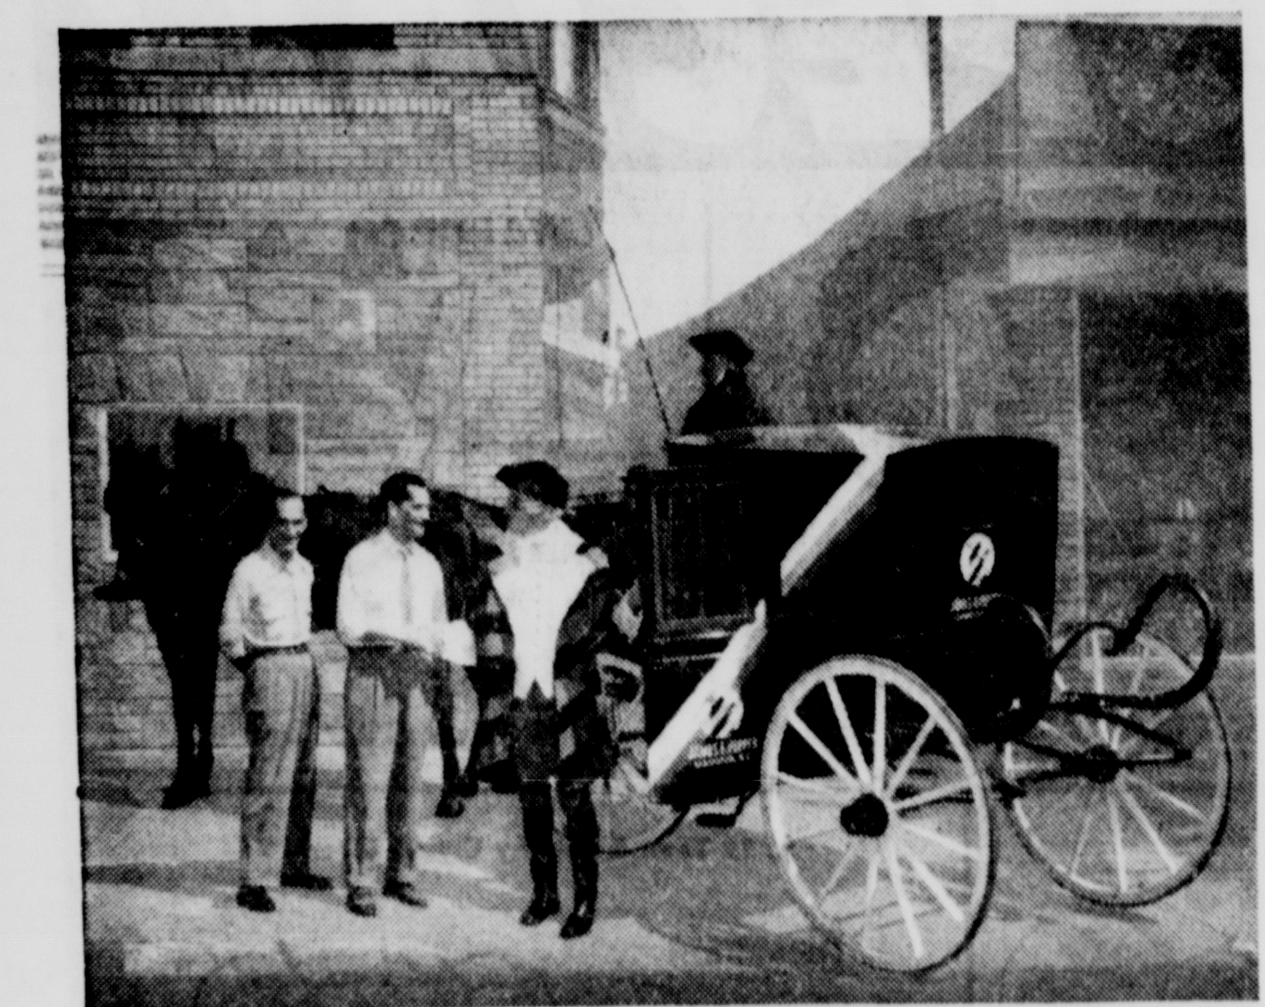

Total working horsepower wherever "cold engine stalling" is a critical problem on cool, moist days. Its special additive protects against stalling caused by carburetor icing, permits maximum possible power-flow from the time you start your engine.

Total working horsepower can benefit present users of "regular" gasoline who drive mostly around town. By simply switching to new "Total Power" Esso EXTRA, they can get better mileage this winter... better all-around performance, too.

Mighty Maryland Climbs Into First Place In INS Grid Survey

Terps Rack Up Tenth In Row Over Alabama

Tie With Iowa Drops Irish Into 2nd Place; Michigan State 3rd

By TONY GALLI
NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (INS)—Mighty Maryland, owning the only major undefeated and untied record in the country with ten straight victories, climbed to the top of the college football heap today as Notre Dame dropped from the number one position for the first time this season.

The Terrapins polished off their regular season by defeating Alabama, 21 to 0, and the win shot Maryland into the top slot in the International News Service weekly coast-to-coast survey as Notre Dame was held to a stunning, 14-to-14 tie by Iowa.

Irish Drop To Second

It was the first time this season that the Irish failed to roll over their opposition, but the tie was not ignominious as Notre Dame dropped only to second place, just a shade behind Maryland. The tie shattered the South Benders' winning record at nine and left the Terrapins with the only all-victorious season.

Four of the top ten teams in the INS survey wound up their seasons over the weekend, and all but one of them, Notre Dame, finish out this Saturday.

Michigan State, UCLA, Oklahoma and Illinois, third, fourth, fifth and sixth place teams respectively, in the INS rankings, held their positions this week.

Michigan State edged past Marquette, 21 to 15; the UCLAs stopped Southern California, which was in seventh place last week, 13 to 0; Oklahoma swamped Nebraska, 30 to 7; and Illinois rolled over Northwestern, 39 to 14.

Georgia Tech clipped Duke, 31 to 10, in a southern thriller and thus climbed from ninth to seventh place. Army and Texas, both idle last week, jumped to eighth and ninth, respectively, and Southern Cal fell to tenth by losing to UCLA.

Terps Assured Bowl Game
The bowl picture is still somewhat muddled, but a definite form is beginning to take shape. Top ranked Maryland is virtually assured to the Atlantic Coast Conference's vote to play in the Orange Bowl against Oklahoma.

UCLA clinched a berth in the Rose Bowl as the Pacific Coast's representative against Michigan State.

Berths are still open in the Cotton and Sugar bowls with speculation centering around Georgia Tech, Texas, West Virginia, Baylor, Rice, Auburn, and Kentucky.

Upsets were relatively rare as the college football program neared its end. Most important surprises were California's 21-to-21 tie with Stanford, and Minnesota's 21-21 deadlock with Wisconsin.

Faloney Suffers Injury To Knee
Will Take Treatment For Torn Ligament

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 22 (U)—Maryland's All America quarterback candidate Bernie Faloney suffered a torn ligament in his left knee in yesterday's Alabama game and will have to take treatments for at least two weeks.

Trainer Duke Wyre said today the knee's response to the treatment will determine when Faloney will be able to resume practice. Maryland is due to be chosen to represent the Atlantic Coast Conference in the Orange Bowl against Oklahoma on New Year's Day.

The Maryland squad will lay off this week and return to practice for three days a week starting next Monday.

Faloney's knee was hurt on the fourth offensive play of yesterday's game when he was tackled after running 12 yards. Three plays later, Coach Jim Tatum noticed him limping and was about to send in Charley Boxold as a substitute. Faloney waved him back and on the next play he passed to Bill Walker for a 52-yard scoring play and then left the game.

He returned in the second quarter on the sixth play completed a 21-yard pass to Chet Hanulak. Faloney was hit by Sid Youngelman, 215-pound Alabama left tackle, on the play and left writhing on the ground. He had to be helped off the field and during the intermission took off his uniform and sat out the second half in a sweat suit.

Catherman Wins Turkey Tourney
Charles S. "Bill" Catherman, Jr., turned in a net 68 to win the turkey tournament held over the weekend at the Cumberland Country Club by the Men's Golf Association.

The Calloway handicap system was used. Catherman's gross score was 71. Fifty-two participated in the tournament.

Doak Walker Leads Lions To Triumph

Detroit Heads Race, Whips Bears, 20-16

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (INS)—The league-leading Detroit Lions came from behind with a touchdown in the final period today to nose out the lowly Chicago Bears 20 to 16, before 36,165 fans at Wrigley Field in Chicago.

Halfback Doak Walker, who scored one touchdown and kicked two field goals, and two extra points for the Lions, swept around from the one yard line for the winning touchdown after J. Robert Smith had intercepted a Bear pass on the Chicago seven yard line.

The victory kept the Lions a half game ahead of Los Angeles and a full game in front of San Francisco in the Western Division of the National Football League. Both the Rams and 49ers won today.

The Bears had taken a 16 to 13 lead in the third period on a 55-yard touchdown pass play from Quarterback George Blanda to end Billy McCall.

Blanda kicked a 44-yard field goal in the first period, and Halfback Eddie Macon raced 14 yards for the first Bear touchdown in the second period.

Walker's first field goal, a 14-yarder came in the first quarter. In the second period, Lions' halfback Bob Hoernschmeyer bulled over from the one yard line to give Detroit a 10 to 9 edge at half-time.

Walker added a 26-yard field goal in the third period.

Redskins Win, Lebaron Stars

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (INS)—Little Eddie Lebaron picked up the Washington Redskins when things looked darkest and sparked them to a 24-to-21 victory over the New York Giants in a National Football League game at the Polo Grounds today.

Lebaron, who had been "off" for three periods, suddenly caught fire, heading the Redskins to 17 points in seven minutes in the last quarter.

The Giants led 14 to 7 going into the last 15 minutes on Ray Gifford's one-yard smash and Charley Conerly's ten-yard pass to Kyle Rote. But in the second half New York's offense failed to come to life.

The Redskins' attack began to function in the fourth period when Lebaron started finding the range with his passes. He completed four of five to set up Bill Dudley's 37-yard field goal.

New York 0 14 0 7—21
Washington 0 0 7 17—24

Fight Enlivens Rams' Triumph At Baltimore

Fears, Hula Clash In 21-13 Contest

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (INS)—The Los Angeles Rams defeated the Baltimore Colts today 21 to 13 on a fog-shrouded field in a game enlivened by a fist fight between two opposing players.

The scuffle occurred in the second quarter on a field so thick with fog and mist that it was difficult at times for the 27,268 fans to see the plays.

Tom Fears, of the Rams, and Don Hula, of the Colts, swung their fists at each other after a Rams player intercepted a Colts' pass and scored. Fears, ordered from the field by the referee, refused to leave and was ruled out of the game.

The Colts, handicapped by injuries suffered in last week's game with the Philadelphia Eagles, sprung into the lead early in the first quarter when Fullback John Huzar plunged over from the one.

The second quarter was scoreless. In the third, Dan Toler, Ram fullback, intercepted a pass and ran 37 yards for a touchdown. The Colts scored another six points in the same quarter when Quarterback George Taliaferro ran 44 yards when he found himself untouchable to pass.

But in the final frame of the National Football League game, the Rams sewed up the game with a touchdown by V. T. Smith, who scored on a 40-yard pass, and by Herb Rich, who intercepted a pass and scampered 53 yards.

The score by quarters:

Forty Niners Beat Packers

16,378 See 'Frisco Eleven Win, 37 To 7

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 22 (INS)—The San Francisco 49ers soundly trounced the Green Bay Packers today, 37-7, before a crowd of 16,378 at Milwaukee on a snow-covered gridiron.

The 49ers took advantage of three breaks in the first half. Lowell Wagner intercepted a Tobin Rote pass in the first period, returning it to the Packers' 43 yard line. Eight plays later Halfback Hugh McElhenny went over for the TD. Gordy Soltau converted.

On the first play after the kickoff, Floyd Reed of the Packers fumbled and Leo Nomellini recovered for the 49ers on the Bay 28. Y. A. Tittle then hit Billy Nelson on a 31-yard touchdown aerial. Soltau converted.

A fumble by Al Carmichael on the kickoff gave the 49ers the ball on Green Bay's 23, after which Fullback Joe Perry rambled 17 yards for a TD with Soltau again converting.

Before the half ended, the Packers drove 84 yards for a touchdown with Babe Parilli going over from the eight. Fred Cone kicked the extra point.

San Francisco added 10 points in the third period when Tittle sneaked over from the one. Soltau kicked the extra point and added a field goal from the 30.

The 49ers closed the scoring when Tittle went over to cap a 40-yard drive.

Fort Hill Win Turkey Day Would Hang Up New Record

Hahn And Ball Teams Win Four Straight; Former Has 9th Team In Turkey Day Tilt

A victory for Fort Hill over Allegany on Thanksgiving Day would give the Sentinels the longest winning streak in the 26-year history of the city classic.

Herman Ball had four straight winners at Allegany in 1936, 1937, 1938 and 1939 when the Blue and White beat Fort Hill by scores of 19-12, 6-2, 14-0 and 13-0. William P. Hahn's 1952 eleven, however, equaled this four-game victory streak. In 1949, 1950, 1951 and 1952 the Sentinels racked up 30-13, 28-0, 13-6 and 37-13 triumphs.

Walter L. Bowers of Allegany tutored nine teams in Turkey Day games for a 5-3-1 record. Hahn will have a team in the Thursday contest for the ninth time. His teams have won six, lost one and tied one.

Records of the 12 coaches in the 25 Thanksgiving Day games to date are as follows:

West Virginia May Reopen Hunting Season Tuesday

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 22 (U)—Welcome showers over three of the state's five consecutive districts brought some relief to forest fire fighters over the state today.

If the rains continue tonight there is a possibility that forests may be re-opened Tuesday. Conservation Director Carl J. Johnson said today.

"However, there does not appear to have been enough rain statewide to justify such an announcement yet," Johnson stated.

He added that the woods and the hunting season are still closed.

West Virginia Stays In Race For Bowl Berth

Six Others Mentioned For Contest At Dallas

DALLAS, Nov. 22 (U)—The Cotton Bowl Selection Committee was meeting in continuing session today trying to figure out who to get for the Jan. 1 football bowl and said frankly it was too big a puzzle for them—at least right now.

The tangled state of affairs in the Southeastern Conference, the major spot for obtaining a team, had the committee asking outsiders for advice and help.

Reports that Georgia Tech had the inside track could not be verified. One committee member asked if Tech actually wanted to come to the Cotton Bowl as previously reported.

Georgia Tech, Auburn, Kentucky, West Virginia, Alabama, Mississippi and Texas Tech were listed by the committee as the teams from which the Cotton Bowl visitor would come.

The committee found one consolation—there were plenty of teams available considering the number of bowl games that wanted them.

Only the Cotton Bowl and Sugar Bowl are open and just three teams are needed to fill them since the Southwest Conference champion is host team in the Cotton Bowl and that team will be decided next Saturday.

The committee gave no indication that it would announce the visiting team but rather that it would wait another week—probably waiting for the Georgia Tech, Georgia, Alabama-Auburn and Mississippi—Mississippi State games.

Mighty Maryland Climbs Into First Place In INS Grid Survey

Terps Rack Up Tenth In Row Over Alabama

Tie With Iowa Drops Irish Into 2nd Place; Michigan State 3rd

By TONY GALLI
NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (INS)—Mighty Maryland, owning the only major undefeated and untied record in the country with ten straight victories, climbed to the top of the college football heap today as Notre Dame dropped from the number one position for the first time this season.

The Terrapins polished off their regular season by defeating Alabama, 21 to 0, and the win shot Maryland into the top slot in the International News Service weekly coast-to-coast survey as Notre Dame was held to a stunning, 14-to-14 tie by Iowa.

Irish Drop To Second

It was the first time this season that the Irish failed to roll over their opposition, but the tie was not ignominious as Notre Dame dropped only to second place, just a shade behind Maryland. The tie shattered the South Bend's winning record at nine and left the Terrapins with the only all-victorious season.

Four of the top ten teams in the INS survey wound up their seasons over the weekend, and all but one of them, Notre Dame, finish out this Saturday.

Michigan State, UCLA, Oklahoma and Illinois, third, fourth, fifth and sixth place teams respectively, in the INS rankings, held their positions this week.

Michigan State edged past Marquette, 21 to 15; the UCLA's stopped Southern California, which was in seventh place last week, 13 to 0; Oklahoma swamped Nebraska, 30 to 7; and Illinois rolled over Northwestern, 39 to 14.

Georgia Tech clipped Duke, 31 to 10, in a southern thriller and thus climbed from ninth to seventh place. Army and Texas, both idle last week, jumped to eighth and ninth, respectively, and Southern Cal fell to tenth by losing to UCLA.

Terps Assured Bowl Game

The bowl picture is still somewhat muddled, but a definite form is beginning to take shape. Top ranked Maryland is virtually assured to the Atlantic Coast Conference's vote to play in the Orange Bowl against Oklahoma.

UCLA clinched a berth in the Rose Bowl as the Pacific Coast's representative against Michigan State.

Berths are still open in the Cotton and Sugar bowls with speculation centering around Georgia Tech, Texas, West Virginia, Baylor, Rice, Auburn, and Kentucky.

Upsets were relatively rare as the college football program neared its end. Most important surprises were California's 21-to-21 tie with Stanford, and Minnesota's 21-21 deadlock with Wisconsin.

Faloney Suffers Injury To Knee

Will Take Treatment For Torn Ligament

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 22 (INS)—Maryland's All America quarterback candidate Bernie Faloney suffered a torn ligament in his left knee in yesterday's Alabama game and will have to take treatments for at least two weeks.

Trainer Duke Wyre said today the knee's response to the treatment will determine when Faloney will be able to resume practice. Maryland is due to be chosen to represent the Atlantic Coast Conference in the Orange Bowl against Oklahoma on New Year's Day.

The Maryland squad will lay off this week and return to practice for three days a week starting next Monday.

Faloney's knee was hurt on the fourth offensive play of yesterday's game when he was tackled after running 12 yards. Three plays later, Coach Jim Tatum noticed him limping and was about to send in Charley Boxold as a substitute. Faloney waved him back and on the next play he passed to Bill Walker for a 52-yard scoring play and then left the game.

He returned in the second quarter and on the sixth play completed a 21-yard pass to Chet Hanulek. Faloney was hit by Sid Youngman, 215-pound Alabama left tackle, on the play and left the game on the ground. He had to be helped off the field during the intermission took off his uniform and sat out the second half in a sweat suit.

Doak Walker Leads Lions To Triumph

Detroit Heads Race, Whips Bears, 20-16

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (INS)—The league-leading Detroit Lions came from behind with a touchdown in the final period today to nose out the lowly Chicago Bears 20 to 16, before 36,165 fans at Wrigley Field in Chicago.

Halfback Doak Walker, who scored one touchdown and kicked two field goals and two extra points for the Lions, swept around end from the one yard line for the winning touchdown after J. Robert Smith had intercepted a Bear pass on the Chicago seven yard line.

The victory kept the Lions a half game ahead of Los Angeles and a full game in front of San Francisco in the Western Division of the National Football League. Both the Rams and 49ers won today.

The Bears had taken a 16 to 13 lead in the third period on a 35-yard touchdown pass play from Quarterback George Blanda to end Billy McCall.

Blanda kicked a 44-yard field goal in the first period, and Halfback Eddie Macon raced 14 yards for the first Bear touchdown in the second period.

Walker's first field goal, a 14-yarder came in the first quarter. In the second period, Lions' halfback Bob Hoernschemeyer bulked over from the one yard line to give Detroit a 10 to 9 edge at halftime.

Walker added a 26-yard field goal in the third period.

Redskins Win, Lebaron Stars

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (INS)—Little Eddie Lebaron picked up the Washington Redskins when things looked darkest and sparked them to a 24-to-21 victory over the New York Giants in a National Football League game at the Polo Grounds today.

Lebaron, who had been "off" for three periods, suddenly caught fire, heading the Redskins to 17 points in seven minutes in the last quarter.

The Giants led 14 to 7 going into the last 15 minutes on Ray Gifford's one-yard smash and Charley Conerly's ten-yard pass to Kyle Rote. But in the second half New York's offense failed to come to life.

The Redskins' attack began to function in the fourth period when Lebaron started finding the range with his passes. He completed four of five to set up Bill Dudley's 37-yard field goal.

Spartans Are Voted Berth Over Illinois By Athletic Heads

By PATRICK JOYCE

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (INS)—Athletic directors of the Big Ten voted tonight to make Michigan State the conference representative in the annual Rose Bowl football game at Pasadena, Calif., next New Year's Day.

The vote, announced at 7:45 p. m. (CST) ended a deadlock between the Spartans and Illinois which had existed since last night when Conference Commissioner Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson held a telegraph poll.

Big Ten officials declined to reveal vote details or how many ballots were taken to break the deadlock.

Various athletic directors had been in session in Chicago since mid-afternoon.

Michigan State is expected to face UCLA, probable Pacific Coast Conference selection, in the bowl game.

The game will be the eighth in a modern series with the Big Ten which started in 1947 when Illinois crushed UCLA, 45 to 14.

Big Ten teams have won all but

Fears, Hula Clash In 21-13 Contest

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (INS)—The Los Angeles Rams defeated the Baltimore Colts today 21 to 13 on a fog-shrouded field in a game enlivened by a fist fight between two opposing players.

The scuffle occurred in the second quarter on a field so thick with fog and mist that it was difficult at times for the 27,268 fans to see the plays.

Tom Fears, of the Rams, and Don Hula, of the Colts, swung their fists at each other after a Rams' player intercepted a Colts' pass and scored. Fears, ordered from the field by the referee, refused to leave and was ruled out of the game.

The Colts, handicapped by injuries suffered in last week's game with the Philadelphia Eagles, spring into the lead early in the 25 Thanksgiving Day games to date as follows:

The second quarter was scoreless. In the third, Dan Toler, fullback, intercepted a pass and ran 37 yards for a touchdown. Colts scored another six points the same quarter when Quarterback George Taliaferro ran 37 yards when he found himself

Fort Hill Win Turkey Day Would Hang Up New Record

Hahn And Ball Teams Win Four Straight; Former Has 9th Team In Turkey Day Tilt

A victory for Fort Hill over Allegany on Thanksgiving Day would give the Sentinels the longest winning streak in the 26-year history of the city classic.

Herman Ball had four straight winners at Allegany in 1936, 1937, 1938 and 1939 when the Blues and White beat Fort Hill by scores of 19-12, 6-2, 14-0 and 13-0. William P. Hahn's 1952 eleven, however, equalled this four-game victory streak. In 1949, 1950, 1951 and 1952 the Sentinels racked up 30-13, 28-0, 13-6 and 37-13 triumphs.

Walter L. Bowers of Allegany tutored nine teams in Turkey Day games for a 5-3 record. Hahn will have a team in the Thursday contest for the ninth time. His teams have won six, lost one and tied one.

Records of the 12 coaches in the 25 Thanksgiving Day games to date are as follows:

West Virginia May Reopen Hunting Season Tuesday

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 22 (AP)—Welcome showers over three of the state's five consecutive districts brought some relief to forest fire fighters over the state today.

If the rains continue tonight there is a possibility that forests may be re-opened Tuesday, Conservation Director Carl J. Johnson said today.

"However, there does not appear to have been enough rain statewide to justify such an announcement yet," Johnson stated.

He added that the woods and the hunting season are still closed.

West Virginia Stays In Race For Bowl Berth

Six Others Mentioned For Contest At Dallas

DALLAS, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Cotton Bowl Selection Committee today trying to figure out who to get for the Jan. 1 football show and said frankly it was too big a puzzle for them—at least right now.

The tangled state of affairs in the Southeastern Conference, the major spot for obtaining a team, had the committee asking outsiders for advice and help.

Reports that Georgia Tech had the inside track could not be verified. One committee member asked if Tech actually wanted to come to the Cotton Bowl as previously reported.

Georgia Tech, Auburn, Kentucky, West Virginia, Alabama, Mississippi and Texas Tech were listed by the committee as the teams from which the Cotton Bowl visitor would come.

The committee found one consolation—there were plenty of teams available considering the number of bowl games that wanted them.

Only the Cotton Bowl and Sugar Bowl are open and just three teams are needed to fill them since the Southwest Conference champion is host team in the Cotton Bowl and that team will be decided next Saturday.

The committee gave no indication that it would announce the visiting team but rather that it would wait another week—probably waiting for the Georgia Tech-Georgia, Alabama-Auburn and Mississippi - Mississippi State games.

Browns Score Ninth Straight Over Steelers

Graham, Groza, Finks Star In 20-16 Battle Witnessed By 32,904

PITTSBURGH, Pa. Nov. 22 (INS)—Otto Graham and Lou Groza ran the unbeaten Cleveland Browns winning streak to nine straight today, winning 20 to 16 despite magnificent play by the Pittsburgh Steelers before 32,904 fans, largest home crowd of the season.

Groza's 50-yard field goal pulled the Browns from two points behind in the second period and Graham's 31-yard scoring toss to Darrell Brewster in the same period gave them the victory margin. Groza added a 41 yarder for three points in the third quarter.

Pittsburgh marched 73 yards for a touchdown with Jim Finks sneaking over from the one-yard line in the first quarter. Five straight pass completions by Finks ate up 56 yards of an 80-yard scoring drive.

Finks, who turned in a terrific game even though the Steelers lost, played without the knowledge that his six-year old daughter, born prematurely, had died just before game time.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners
(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 22 (INS)—"Paramount will buy 'The Life Story of Charles A. Lindbergh,'" Louella told me excitedly via long distance from New York.

LOP, supposed to be on vacation, is still doing business at the same old stand—getting scoops.

"The purchase will be for the complete Lindbergh story including the kidnapping of his son," she continued. "The film will deal with Lindbergh's entire career and is not centered exclusively around his book, 'The Spirit Of St. Louis.'"

"Only by agreeing to the strictest supervision Colonel Lindbergh cares to exert on the filming was Paramount able to make this deal—certainly one of the biggest ever made by any studio in the history of motion pictures."

The "bad days" between Spencer Tracy and MGM over his refusal to do "Bad Day At Black Rock" were solved amicably when the studio decided to let Spence go on screen, he eased the hot novel past the suspicious censors and glaring army brass with such finesse they hardly knew what happened until the movie was a smash hit.

For this chore, Taradash took a small "percentage" instead of salary—and you should see his bankbook now!

Snapshots of New York collected by LOP: Ginger Rogers and her bridegroom, Jacques Bergerac, in town for a day were feted. Earl Blackwell gave a dinner at the Pen & Pencil where Ginger introduced Jacques to her many friends.

Ethel Merman and her handsome six-foot-two bridegroom, Robert Six, were given a royal welcome. Ethel looks so wonderful.

Gloria Swanson just back from a tour where she showed her clothes looked very demure in a high-neck suit with a small hat. She was one of the few women present who didn't wear a cocktail dress.

Why are So Many Sufferers from Pains of ARTHRITIS, RHEUMATISM Turning to PRUVO for long-lasting Relief?

At first a few—then hundreds—then by the thousands the victims of arthritis and rheumatism have turned to PRUVO Tablets for special soothing relief. "At last," they say, "we have found the answer. PRUVO works wonders!" If you suffer nagging or even almost torturing, unbearable pains in arms, neck, back, legs—you too may find relief by turning to PRUVO for quick soothing relief. PRUVO therapy, based on the latest findings of a famous medical research authority, is so sound and logical, so safe and sure that it just naturally will appeal to your good judgment.

The function of PRUVO is to break the vicious cycle of pain—the pain which prolongs the spasm of the muscles around the joints and causes the sufferer to refrain from movement. This inactivity can result in atrophy or wasting away and finally deformity of the joints.

Pain offers the quickest, longest lasting, non-narcotic relief known to medical science. It contains prescription type ingredients, completely harmless to all organs of the human body, is recommended frequently by doctors. Among these important ingredients is salicylamide which cures the analgesic potency of aspirin—and even those who have found the aspirin type preparation nauseating can take PRUVO without the slightest discomfort or annoyance.

Directions with each bottle tell you how to get the most effective results—and as those aches and pains fade away, it is PRUVO is sold by RAND'S—Cor., Baltimore and Centre

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 22 (INS)—"Paramount will buy 'The Life Story of Charles A. Lindbergh,'" Louella told me excitedly via long distance from New York.

LOP, supposed to be on vacation, is still doing business at the same old stand—getting scoops.

"The purchase will be for the complete Lindbergh story including the kidnapping of his son," she continued. "The film will deal with Lindbergh's entire career and is not centered exclusively around his book, 'The Spirit Of St. Louis.'"

"Only by agreeing to the strictest supervision Colonel Lindbergh's career to exert on the filming was Paramount able to make this deal—certainly one of the biggest ever made by any studio in the history of motion pictures."

The "bad days" between Spencer Tracy and MGM over his refusal to do "Bad Day At Black Rock" were solved amicably when the studio decided to let Spence go on loan out to 20th Century Fox for "The Broken Lance."

This Sol C. Siegel story is much more to Tracy's liking, and the fact that it will be made in cinemascope is an added inducement, as Spence has not yet performed on the wide screen.

Snapshots of New York collected by LOP: Ginger Rogers and her bridegroom, Jacques Bergerac, in town for a day were feted. Earl Blackwell gave a dinner at the Pen & Pencil where Ginger introduced Jacques to her many friends.

Ethel Merman and her handsome six-foot-two bridegroom, Robert Six, were given a royal welcome. Ethel looks so wonderful.

Gloria Swanson just back from a tour where she showed her clothes looked very demure in a high-neck suit with a small hat. She was one of the few women present who didn't wear a cocktail dress.

For this chore, Taradash took a small "percentage" instead of salary—and you should see his bankbook now!

Reprise Of The Old Style Comedy

Watching Red Buttons, a remarkably skilled young comedian, the other night, as he donned one costume after another in an attempt to lure June Havoc into his high school play was remarkably like that of movie comedy in the great days before the talkies came along and spoiled everything.

The plot has the patina of age and tradition which should engender respect.

Miss Havoc was supposed to be a great lady of the films. Mr. Buttons was a wide-eyed high school boy, still wet around the ears. In an attempt to inveigle her into his school, he invades her apartment first as himself, second disguised as a waiter, third as a young French boy. He clambers under tables, locks her agent in a closet (that old one) and behaves in general, like a demented gremlin.

Buttons is the kind of button-eyed, ingenious, sleazebag innocent who stems directly from the days of Harold Lloyd and Buster Keaton and Harry Langdon. The things that happen to him, he stumbles into the gangster's hideout and captures them all more or less by accident—are all the sort of things that used to happen to Lloyd and Keaton and Langdon. It was a kind of comedy that had its great day in the movies 20 to 35 years ago and then passed on.

And here it is back again to a whole new audience. Well, almost wholly new. There are still a couple of us oldsters who remember the originals. And, for my money, the stuff is as good as ever. Why did it ever disappear?

Largely, I suspect because the movies passed from an individual or performer's medium to a medium where the writer and director, especially the director, were the big wheels. Comedy of this sort demands that you give the performer his head. The material is secondary to the way he handles it. Actually, Buttons has been engaged in some of the oldest wheezes in the world of farce and makes them seem new or at least reasonably acceptable by sheer technique and charm.

If you want to see where these gags come from, all you have to do is watch the ancient movies by show on "Howdy Doody" and you'll see a lot of things that are remarkably similar to the Buttons show. And, they're still pretty great.

Radio came along and developed its own brand of humor of which the comedy of insult was the best. This sort of thing, for example: Jack Benny: Gee, I wonder if the Colmans are planning to give a party for my homecoming. Rochester: Could be. They gave a dilly when you went away.

The humor of self-disparagement, which is hardly new any more, was raised to a high level. George Burns: Why don't you tell your wife you want to go fishing. What are you—a man or a mouse.

Harry Morton: I'm a man. She's afraid of mice.

And the switcheroo became a high art. "The last job I had was working as a waitress at a race track. You know one of those places where windows clean people," is a fine example of the sort of joke that is a little too clever for its own good.

For humor that sneaks up on you, I still like Herb Shriner, one of the gentlest of all humorists. Shriner was talking about shopping for toys for Christmas. "The tin soldier sets come with four tin civilians," he said. "They put the draft board right in the box."

Watching Red Buttons, a remarkably skilled young comedian, the other night, as he donned one costume after another in an attempt to lure June Havoc into his high school play was remarkably like that of movie comedy in the great days before the talkies came along and spoiled everything.

The plot has the patina of age and tradition which should engender respect for its own good.

For humor that sneaks up on you, I still like Herb Shriner, one of the gentlest of all humorists. Shriner was talking about shopping for toys for Christmas. "The tin soldier sets come with four tin soldiers," he said. "They put the draft board right in the box."

Unusual Egg Found

W. M. Wilfong, who resides at the rear of 236 Oldtown Road, reported finding three average-sized yolks in an egg he was preparing for lunch. The egg, Wilfong stated, was large but not over-sized.

United Jewish Appeal Opens In Cumberland

Van Paassen Is Speaker At Kickoff Dinner

Writer Urges Aid
For Israeli Nation

Pierre van Paassen, noted writer and authority on Israel, last night told Western Maryland Jews that Secretary of State Dulles had given the people of the United States a false idea that Israel harbors expansionist ideas.

Van Paassen, speaking at a kickoff dinner for the United Jewish Appeal at the Fort Cumberland ballroom, said the Arabs "have no more to fear from Israel than they have to fear from the United States."

Only the big landlords who help to keep their people in feudal semi-slavery, said van Paassen, have anything to fear from Israel, and that is that their people will become united in discontent because of Israel's example in progress and will demand sweeping land reform.

"Let us remember," he said, "that every democratic revolution is based on the problem of the land, and of land reform."

Propagandists Busy

Van Paassen recently expressed his views to President Eisenhower in reply to a statement by Secretary Dulles that the Arabs were afraid of Zionism as they were of Communism.

"We may now be entering upon the greatest crisis in recorded Jewish history," he declared, saying that if the Israeli nation should fail, then every American Jew would suffer.

"Anti-semitic propagandists in the United States are lying in wait for just such an opportunity to make a football of American Jewry," he declared.

Van Paassen recounted several of his experiences in Europe and the Near East since the time in 1931, when as a foreign correspondent in Hamburg, Goebbels expelled him from Germany and Hitler gave him a personal tongue-lashing because he had dared to address a Jewish religious gathering.

Has Seen Much Suffering

"Since then," said van Paassen, "I have seen incredible suffering among homeless Jews in many other countries."

Then he told his audience how the creation of an Israeli state after World War II had made it possible for displaced Jews, persecuted and tortured under the reign of Hitler, to migrate to a nation they could call home.

Israel, still struggling to assimilate its fast-growing population, is a booming nation, he declared. Its biggest problems are adequate patrolling of its borders for protection from roving bands of Arab raiders, and utilization of its natural resources.

Nation Is Symbolic

Because of the help that the United Jewish Appeal has poured into Israel, he said, "every Jew in the world today has his head a little higher because of what is symbolized by the existence of that little nation."

Van Paassen was introduced by Max Spear, chairman of this year's campaign in Western Maryland. Rabbi Joseph Schimelman of Beth Jacob Congregation gave the invocation, and Leonard Schwab, president of the Western Maryland Welfare Fund extended greetings to the more than 100 persons who attended. Dr. Albert Eskin, chairman of last year's appeal, introduced Spear, and benediction was by Rabbi Samuel Umen of B'er Chayim Congregation.

An opening dinner for the various canvassers in the $200,000 building fund campaign of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, will be held today at 6:30 p. m. in the Baltimore Street Church.

Individual membership solicitation will begin tomorrow. At a kickoff dinner held Thursday night at the Central YMCA, pledges totaling $85,360 were reported. General chairman of the canvass organization is William A. Douglas, president of the George F. Hazelwood Company. The $200,000 will be used for construction of an educational building on the church property on Washington Street.

Transportation will be provided for those persons needing it, according to Mrs. Ralph L. Wilson. Reservations may be made through Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Nathan Hauger, Mrs. Harry Bowman, Mrs. Russell Beery and Mrs. Edwin Lease Sr.

Clarence Kean, safety chairman, reported the school safety patrol needed 12 new raincoats. The association voted to buy them.

Reports on the recent state PTA convention were given by Mrs. John A. Lower and Mrs. Louis K. Reynolds. Both emphasized that the entire convention stressed the gravity of the problems faced by both parents and teachers. Most speakers had urged parents to use stronger, more consistent discipline, with more household tasks and responsibility for children, but not to forget that children's need for love is equally great.

Following the business meeting the program featured a movie, "Social Development of Children." Group discussion was led by Miss Winifred Green, elementary supervisor, and Miss Esther Carter, pupil personnel supervisor.

Prizes for attendance were won by Miss Jeanne Lippold's room, first; Miss Coretta Davis, second, and Miss Irene Lam, third. Refreshments were served by the sixth grade mothers.

Final Rites For Mishap Victims Set

Young Couple Die When Car Hits Tree

A double funeral service will be held tomorrow in Grantsville for a young married couple who died late Saturday night when their car ran off U. S. Route 40 and uprooted a tree.

Dead are: Harry Sylvester Wilt, 22, of Bear Hill, between Jennings and Bittinger in Garrett County, and Shirley Wilt, his 18-year-old wife.

State Police Trooper Glen D. Folk said both died instantly of neck fracture at about 10:45 p. m. when their car slid off the rain-soaked road just east of Grantsville.

The Wilt's were on their way home from Meyersdale, Pa. Their 14-month-old child, at first reported to have been with them, was at home with Wilt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Wilt.

Folk said the 1939 coupe was westward bound down a slippery hill at what he called a high rate of speed when the accident happened.

The car slid off the road, turned on its side and struck an ash tree 10 inches thick, carrying the tree 30 feet from the point of impact. The top of the car was pushed to within an inch or two of the floorboards.

When police were unable to get the bodies out of the twisted wreckage of the car, the Castelman Motor Company at Grantsville sent out an acetylene cutting torch.

Herbert Ringer, an employee of the garage, spent almost two hours cutting away the torn and twisted metal so the bodies could be brought out. The Grantsville Fire Company stood by in case of fire.

It was nearly 1 a. m. when the bodies were recovered. Reported As Speeding

The accident was reported to police by a motorist whom Wilt had passed shortly before. Police said Wilt's license number had been reported to Pennsylvania authorities shortly before the accident by another motorist who had been passed by a car travelling at "excessive speed."

The wreckage was clearly visible from the highway, and Folk estimated that several hundred passersby gathered at the scene early yesterday, attracted by the light of the acetylene torch. Scores of cars stopped at the scene again today to view the wreckage.

Troopers Joseph V. Stakem, Donald R. Wade and Harry S. Bosley controlled traffic and assisted Folk in the investigation.

A funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the Winterberg Funeral Home in Grantsville. Burial will be in Bittinger Cemetery.

Today's Sermonette

So Paul went out among them. But some . . . joined him and believed, among them . . . a woman named Damaris. Acts 17:33-34.

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday at Living Stone Church of the Brethren by the pastor, Rev. Arthur Scrogum. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

A Woman Named Damaris

By REV. ARTHUR SCROGUM

One of the cities which Paul visited on his missionary journeys was Athens. This Greek city had lost much of its splendor, but it was still the center of the world's culture. As Paul walked about the city he was shocked by its idolatry. He had seen idols in other cities but evidently nothing like this.

In the market place, where men often discussed problems of interest, Paul met and talked with some philosophers. They invited him to set forth his views on Mars Hill. When he appeared there he used his text the inscription which he had seen on one of their many idols. "To the unknown God."

He declared that this God is the Creator and the Lord of the universe, that He does not dwell in shrines made by man, that He is not served by human hands, and that He gives to all men life and breath and everything. He told them that all men need to repent and turn to God, for a day has been fixed when all will be judged.

At the conclusion of this message there were different reactions to it. There were some who mocked. These were interested in abstract truth and science and general knowledge, but when they were asked to repent and to prepare and to give an account of their lives to God they were scornful. In the First Psalm we are told that we are blessed if we do not sit in the seat of the scornful.

It is a serious matter to make a mockery of divine and eternal truth. We miss the rewards of a better life when we assume this attitude.

There was a second group whose attitude was that of procrastination. They need not make a decision in the matter now. They could hear more about it later. But it is never safe to delay a decision on such important matters. They may never be presented in a decisive way again. This was evidently true in the case of these philosophers. If a similar message is heard later it is unlikely that the same impressions will be received. Many who never turn to their Lord can blame their procrastination more than any other cause.

There was a third group on Mars Hill represented by the woman named Damaris. She, with a few others, joined the apostle and believed. We know little about this small group but of some things we may be quite certain. It took some courage to make this choice, especially in the face of mockery and scorn. But there was the satisfaction and joy that always comes to those who make a wise decision and who can feel that they have settled an important matter and are trying to do what they should.

All of us are stirred at times by things which we hear or see or read. We experience an urge to make a wise decision, or to do a noble deed, or to live a better life. But how often it happens that we

A three-year-old boy was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon suffering injuries sustained when he was struck by an auto near his home.

The condition of David Frey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian M. Frey, of 902 Harding Street, was reported as satisfactory last night. X-rays have been taken. Police said the boy darted into the path of an auto driven by Robert H. Meister of 919 Harding Street. No charges were preferred by Officer John Powers who investigated. The mishap occurred about 3:45 p. m.

Curtis R. Brant, 69, of 907 Shade's Lane, was treated at Sacred Heart Hospital for injuries sustained when struck by a Baltimore motorcyclist in the 500 block of Baltimore Avenue.

No charges were filed against Joseph Francis Smith, 25, of 1326 North Potomac Street, Baltimore, driver of the cycle. The accident occurred about 8:15 p. m. Brant was reported to have walked into the path of the motorcycle. He was taken to the hospital by a passerby, Michael Cunningham Jr. of 815 Columbia Avenue. Investigating was Officer John Powers.

Two Richmond, Va., residents are patients in Memorial Hospital after being involved in a head-on collision on W. Va. Route 28 two and one-half miles south of Fort Ashby Friday night.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hutson who sustained multiple injuries, according to Trooper W. Frank Bowley, of the Keyser detachment of West Virginia State Police.

Trooper Bowley said an auto driven by Glenn Shanholz of Green Spring, in trying to pass another car, hit head-on the machine operated by Mr. Hutson.

Tucker County Police Probing Shooting Story

Aged Man Reports Attempted Robbery

A 71-year-old farmer was "resting well" last night in Tucker County (W. Va.) Hospital with a bullet wound in the chest and shoulder while police checked on his story that he was shot by a masked man who came to his home to rob him. West Virginia State Police said Clarence Dumire narrowly escaped death when a .22 calibre bullet from his own rifle entered his chest just above the heart and ranged upward into the shoulder, where it lodged just under the skin.

Dumire was shot while he was alone on his hillside farm at Limestone, a tiny community eight miles northeast of St. George in Tucker County.

State Police First Sgt. E. L. Roush of Company C headquarters at Elkins said Dumire told this story:

His wife and his two sons, Harold, 22, and Richard, 20, had gone into Parsons at about 9:30 a. m. Saturday. Early in the afternoon he went out to chop some wood, but found his axe was in need of sharpening.

When he returned to the house for a whetstone, a masked man in blue denim jacket and rubber boots met him on the back porch, pointed Dumire's own rifle at his chest and asked:

"Where's the money?" He apparently referred to $1,000 which the older man had received several days earlier for the sale of some timber.

When Dumire refused to turn over his money, the stranger fired. Dumire's wife and sons returned home at about 3 p. m., to find him lying on the floor inside the house. They took him to the hospital in Parsons and called State Police Trooper James Rightmire at Thomas.

Police said the house apparently had not been ransacked, and that the $500 remaining from the timber sale was found intact. No one in the community, they said, had seen any strangers.

The gun was found on the porch, in front of an automobile seat which Sgt. Roush said Dumire used as a sofa. The axe was under a rug in front of the seat.

Rightmire and Roush said they are continuing their investigation, and that they plan to talk to Dumire again as soon as he is well enough.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hutson who sustained multiple injuries, according to Trooper W. Frank Bowley, of the Keyser detachment of West Virginia State Police.

Vandals Terrorize Messick Road Area

Rural Families Report Heavy Property Loss

Livestock Killed;
Houses Stoned

A wave of vandalism, which has destroyed hundreds of dollars' worth of private property and has terrorized a neighborhood over a period of several months, broke out again Saturday night in the Messick Road area just off Williams Road.

A half-dozen or more families who live in this rural area say they have been annoyed by a series of destructive happenings for a number of months, and complaints to authorities have produced little or no results.

People Fear Reprisal

Authorities who have been investigating the reported vandalism say that it has been difficult to make any arrests or even find any logical suspects, because most of the people in the area seem afraid to furnish full information, in fear of retaliation by the culprits, their families or friends.

However, an investigation has been underway and is continuing. The acts of vandalism include such things as throwing stones at windows of homes at night. Some windows have been broken. One family reports the cutting down of 10 prized evergreen trees which had been planted as a hedgehog fence.

Another family reports they believe their house was ransacked a recent night when no one was at home.

Several report fences cut, gardens and crops damaged and live stock turned out.

Goats And Bees Destroyed

One man, on whom the vandalism seems to have been concentrated because his place is more isolated than the others, operates a goat farm and also has 150 hives of bees on his property. Since this vandalism started, eight of his prize goats have been trampled to death by their mates when vandals drove the herd into a small barnlike shed and closed all doors and windows. The shed is large enough for only a dozen or so goats at a time, but as many as 35 or 40 have been crowded into the place.

A watch dog, reported of considerable value, at this farm has been poisoned twice. A veterinarian was able to save him the first time only because he had, a few hours before, been fed a quart or more of goat milk. Saturday night, he was poisoned again and his recovery this time is doubtful.

At this farm, about 20 bee hives have been overturned and destroyed. These are worth upwards of $25 each.

Fences have been cut, pasture land damaged, garden crops and other crops have been torn up and tossed about.

Electric power lines have been severed, light fixtures and extension cords have been carried away and obscene notes left on "no trespass" signs.

Men Work At Night

In most instances, the men in these suburban families work for the B & O Railroad or at the Celanese plant. They work night shifts as a general rule and the women and children are alone in these homes.

When rocks and dirt and stones are thrown at the houses at night, the women are afraid to go outside. Some of them indicate they are afraid to telephone authorities when these things happen in fear of reprisal against their homes, their children or themselves. Many do not have telephones.

These people, along with authorities feel certain that the vandals are persons thoroughly familiar with the area and with the working and living habits of the residents. They seem familiar with the going and coming of those who have livestock, equipment etc. in the area.

Because these residents fear reprisal, no names have been used in this story, and authorities offer the assurance that the problem will be fully probed this week.

CHARLES G. SMITH

Charles G. Smith Dies Of Heart Attack Here

Was Former Fireman, Businessman Of City

Charles G. Smith, 52, of Prince Frederick, former member of the Cumberland Fire Department and a local businessman, died of a heart condition early yesterday morning.

While residing in Cumberland, Mr. Smith, a veteran of World War I, was also active in veterans organizations.

Mr. Smith was stricken while visiting relatives on Mt. Savage Road and was rushed to Sacred Heart Hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival at 1:45 a. m.

He was a native of Frostburg, born December 19, 1900, a son of the late John and Eva (Humbertson) Smith. Mr. Smith resided here for 40 years.

For 18 years he was a member of the City Fire Department during which time he served as an inspector. After resigning from the department in 1944 he opened a confectionery store on Johnson Street near Blue Bridge.

Later he sold the establishment and opened another store at 600 Baltimore Avenue which he operated for five years. In 1951 he sold the business and moved to Prince Frederick where he was employed by the State at Patuxent River Bridge.

A veteran of World War I, Mr. Smith was active in the American Legion. In 1943 he was elected commander of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, and became the 25th commander of the post which was organized in 1919.

He was past grand chef-de-guerre of the State of Maryland, 40-8, a member of Vulture 164 of Cumberland and a past chef-de-guerre of that unit.

Mr. Smith was also a member of the Methodist Church. Surviving, besides his wife, Mrs. Ruth (Twigg) Smith, are four brothers, Earl Smith, city; George W. Smith, Wilmington, Del.; Walter E. Smith, city, and William H. Smith, Baltimore.

Johnson Heights PTA Plans To Sell Yule Trees

Johnson Heights PTA will sell Christmas trees on the school grounds December 17 to 20th according to Nathan Hauger, president.

Evan Smith, chairman of the ways and means committee, will be in charge. During a meeting Thursday at the school, Hauger announced the association's annual dinner in honor of the teachers will be held at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club at 7 p. m. December 4.

Transportation will be provided for those persons needing it, according to Mrs. Ralph L. Wilson. Reservations may be made through Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Nathan Hauger, Mrs. Harry Bowman, Mrs. Russell Beery and Mrs. Edwin Lease Sr.

Clarence Kean, safety chairman, reported the school safety patrol needed 12 new raincoats. The association voted to buy them.

Reports on the recent state PTA convention were given by Mrs. John A. Lower and Mrs. Louis K. Reynolds. Both emphasized that the entire convention stressed the gravity of the problems faced by both parents and teachers. Most speakers had urged parents to use stronger, more consistent discipline, with more household tasks and responsibility for children, but not to forget that children's need for love is equally great.

Following the business meeting the program featured a movie, "Social Development of Children." Group discussion was led by Miss Winifred Green, elementary supervisor, and Miss Esther Carter, pupil personnel supervisor.

Prizes for attendance were won by Miss Jeanne Lippold's room, first; Miss Corretta Davis, second, and Miss Irene Lam, third. Refreshments were served by the sixth grade mothers.

Van Paassen Is Speaker At Kickoff Dinner

Writer Urges Aid For Israeli Nation

Pierre van Paassen, noted writer and authority on Israel, last night told Western Maryland Jews that Secretary of State Dulles had given the people of the United States a false idea that Israel harbors expansionist ideas.

Van Paassen, speaking at a kickoff dinner for the United Jewish Appeal at the Fort Cumberland ballroom, said the Arabs "have no more to fear from Israel than they have to fear from the United States."

Only the big landlords who help to keep their people in feudal slavery, said van Paassen, have anything to fear from Israel, and that is that their people will become united in discontent because of Israel's example in progress and will demand sweeping land reform.

"Let us remember," he said, "that every democratic revolution is based on the problem of the land, and of land reform."

Propagandists Busy

Van Paassen recently expressed his views to President Eisenhower in reply to a statement by Secretary Dulles that the Arabs were afraid of Zionism as they were of Communism.

"We may now be entering upon the greatest crisis in recorded Jewish history," he declared, saying that if the Israeli nation should fail, then every American Jew would suffer.

"Anti-semitic propagandists in the United States are lying in wait for just such an opportunity to make a football of American Jewry," he declared.

Van Paassen recounted several of his experiences in Europe and the Near East since the time in 1931, when as a foreign correspondent in Hamburg, Goebbels expelled him from Germany and Hitler gave him a personal tongue-lashing because he had dared to address a Jewish religious gathering.

Has Seen Much Suffering

"Since then," said van Paassen, "I have seen incredible suffering among homeless Jews in many other countries."

Then he told his audience how the creation of an Israeli state after World War II had made it possible for displaced Jews, persecuted and tortured under the reign of Hitler, to migrate to a nation they could call home.

Israel, still struggling to assimilate its fast-growing population, is a booming nation, he declared. Its biggest problems are adequate patrolling of its borders for protection from roving bands of Arab raiders, and utilization of its natural resources.

Nation Is Symbolic

Because of the help that the United Jewish Appeal has poured into Israel, he said, "every Jew in the world today has his head a little higher because of what is symbolized by the existence of that little nation."

Van Paassen was introduced by Max Spear, chairman of this year's campaign in Western Maryland. Rabbi Joseph Schmelman of Beth Jacob Congregation gave the invocation, and Leonard Schwab, president of the Western Maryland Welfare Fund extended greetings to the more than 100 persons who attended. Dr. Albert Eskin, chairman of last year's appeal, introduced Spear, and benediction was by Rabbi Samuel Umen of B'nei Chayim Congregation.

Final Rites For Mishap Victims Set

Young Couple Die When Car Hits Tree

A double funeral service will be held tomorrow in Grantsville for a young married couple who died late Saturday night when their car ran off U. S. Route 40 and uprooted a tree.

Dead are: Harry Sylvester Wilt, 22, of Bear Hill, between Jennings and Bittinger in Garrett County, and Shirley Wilt, his 18-year-old wife.

State Police Trooper Glen D. Folk said both died instantly of neck fracture at about 10:45 p. m. when their car slid off the rain-soaked road just east of Grantsville.

The Wilt family was on their way home from Meyersdale, Pa. Their 14-month-old child, at first reported to have been with them, was at home with Wilt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Wilt.

Westward Bound

Folk said the 1939 coupe was westward bound down a slippery hill at what he called a high rate of speed when the accident happened.

The car slid off the road, turned on its side and struck an ash tree 10 inches thick, carrying the tree 30 feet from the point of impact. The top of the car was pushed to within an inch or two of the floorboards.

When police were unable to get the bodies out of the twisted wreckage of the car, the Casselman Motor Company at Grantsville sent out an acetylene cutting torch.

Herbert Ringer, an employee of the garage, spent almost two hours cutting away the torn and twisted metal so the bodies could be brought out. The Grantsville Fire Company stood by in case of fire. It was nearly 1 a. m. when the bodies were recovered.

Reported As Speeding

The accident was reported to police by a motorist whom Folk had passed shortly before. Police said Wilt's license number had been reported to Pennsylvania authorities shortly before the accident by another motorist who had been passed by a car travelling at "excessive speed."

The wreckage was clearly visible from the highway, and Folk estimated that several hundred passersby gathered at the scene early yesterday, attracted by the light of the acetylene torch. Scores of cars stopped at the scene again during the day to view the wreckage.

Troopers Joseph V. Stakem, Donald R. Wade and Harry S. Bosley controlled traffic and assisted Folk in the investigation.

A funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the Winterberg Funeral Home in Grantsville. Burial will be in Bittinger Cemetery.

Vandals Terrorize Messick Road Area

Rural Families Report Heavy Property Loss

Livestock Killed; Houses Stoned

A wave of vandalism, which has destroyed hundreds of dollars worth of private property and has terrorized a neighborhood over a period of several months, broke out again Saturday night in the Messick Road area just off Williams Road.

A half-dozen or more families who live in this rural area say they have been annoyed by a series of destructive happenings for a number of months, and complaints to authorities have produced little or no results.

People Fear Reprisal

Authorities who have been investigating the reported vandalism say that it has been difficult to make any arrests or even find any logical suspects, because most of the people in the area seem afraid of retaliation by the culprits, their families or friends.

However, an investigation has been underway and is continuing.

The acts of vandalism include such things as throwing stones at windows of homes at night. Some windows have been broken. One family reports the cutting down of 10 prized evergreen trees which had been planted as a hedgerow fence.

Another family reports they believe their house was ransacked a recent night when no one was at home.

Goats And Bees Destroyed

One man, on whom the vandalism seems to have been concentrated because his place is more isolated than the others, operates a goat farm and also has 150 hives of bees on his property. Since this vandalism started, eight of his prize goats have been trampled to death by their mates when vandals drove the herd into a small barn-like shed and closed all doors and windows. The shed is large enough for only a dozen or so goats at a time, but as many as 35 or 40 have been crowded into the place.

A watch dog, reported of considerable value, at this farm has been poisoned twice. A veterinarian was able to save him the first time only because he had, a few hours before, been fed a quart or more of goat milk. Saturday night, he was poisoned again and his recovery this time is doubtful.

At this farm, about 20 bee hives have been overturned and destroyed. These are worth upwards of $25 each.

Fences have been cut, pasture land damaged, garden crops and other crops have been torn up and tossed about.

Electric power lines have been severed, light fixtures and extension cords have been carried away and obscene notes left on "no trespass" signs.

Men Work At Night

In most instances, the men in these suburban families work for the B & O Railroad or at the Celanese plant. They work night shifts as a general rule and the women and children are alone in these homes.

When rocks and dirt and stones are thrown at the houses at night, the women are afraid to go outside. Some of them indicate they are afraid to telephone authorities when these things happen in fear of reprisal against their homes, their children or themselves. Many do not have telephones.

These people, along with authorities feel certain that the vandals are persons thoroughly familiar with the area and with the working and living habits of the residents. They seem familiar with the going and coming of those who have livestock, equipment etc. in the area.

Because these residents fear reprisal, no names have been used in this story, and authorities offer the assurance that the problem will be fully probed this week.

She is editor of the Alcehi Mirror, school newspaper; a member of the staff of the Allegewi, school yearbook; vice-president of Tri-Hi-Y, and a member of the Choral Club, Choir and ADK Club. Governor Proclaims Three-Day Holidays

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 22 (AP)—Marylanders will be able to enjoy three-day holidays at Christmas and New Year's.

Gov. McKeldin yesterday proclaimed Thanksgiving, Dec. 26, a state holiday and said he would do the same for Jan. 2.

He said the proclamation answered a "widespread desire expressed by many persons in industrial and retail pursuits" and said he took the action because the day after Christmas is a Saturday when little business would be expected.

The Weather

The rain came. After weeks, and weeks and weeks of dry weather, rain fell Sunday. A total of .36 of an inch of rainfall was officially recorded at 8 o'clock last night with more rain still falling through the night. Humidity stood at 98 per cent. High temperature for the period was recorded as 70 degrees, low as 48 and at 8 p. m. mercury had leveled at 60. A dense fog blanketed the area early Sunday morning and late Saturday night. An electrical storm was reported east of the city early last night.
